GRILL JOHNNY WILSON

Today

So He Gave $6000
Sad Copper, Sad Oil
Wanted a King. Got One
Mussolini Wears Cotton

By Arthur Brisbane

A FEW EARNEST "DRYS" will be surprised, others won't be surprised, to hear that the intelligent head of a bootleg ring in Seattle contributed $6000 to Senator Jones' 1926 campaign for re-election.

Senator Jones is drier than dry. He invented the Jones law, which if it was really a law instead of being a joke would send fifty per cent of our most "respectable" customers of bootleggers to jail.

The bootlegger contributing $6000 to a dry Senator's campaign must think that prohibition is good for bootlegging.

Senator Jones says he didn't know anything about the $6000, contributed to his dry campaign by a bootlegger. His friends fear that the contribution may injure Senator Jones' chances when he runs for the Senate again in 1932.

Wall Street felt very cheerful yesterday except coppers and oils. They were gloomy and they ought to be cheerful always. Copper and oil represent two of the nation's greatest sources of wealth.

Our situation is strange. We suffer because we have TOO MUCH of the things that nations need.

Too much wheat makes the farmers poor, too much oil hurts the oil business, too much copper cuts the price below the cost of production in many mines.

It is hard to think of anything you can do for a little rich boy bored to tears with too many toys in his nursery. It is hard to plan anything for a country that has nothing to complain of except that it has too much.

One thing is certain. It will be necessary for the government, in its spending, to recognize, sooner or later, the fact that there has been a slump and that American prosperity is not the vigorous creature that it was a little while ago.

Perhaps Secretary Mellon and President Hoover will decide is it really necessary to pay all the war debts in a hurry?

Why not let another patriotic generation pay part?

"Shell Union," big British-Dutch oil company, that has been like a railroad spike in the side of American oil concerns, decided yesterday to pass its dividend. No 35 cents a share on the common stock this quarter.

Nobody can imagine how badly Standard Oil, Texaco, Sinclair, and other American concerns will feel about that.

And in Wall Street nobody seems eager to borrow any money. It was offered yesterday at 2 per cent "on call." And some unofficially sent money as low as one and one-half per cent. Time money was borrowed as low as 3 per cent. This is very sad for banks that were lending loose money at 15 and 20 per cent not long ago.

That golden goose, for the time being, was butchered very thoroughly. For details apply to the Federal Reserve. It knows.

Dispatches from Bucharest say the new King Carol, who decided to come back, and put his little boy out of the royal job, plans to get a brand new wife. He was divorced from his first wife, Queen Helen, after he had departed with a charming lady, making no secret of it.

When he returned from Paris, looking "royal," it was said the divorce would be cancelled. Now it is planned to let the divorce stand and get another queen.

He may marry the lady with whom he departed. But if so, it must be a "morganatic" marriage. A king cannot marry, in the regular way, anything that is not "royalty."

Rumanians thought they needed a king and they have got one.

It is hot in Rome and Mussolini sets a good example, appearing in public wearing a suit of white cotton, a soft collar, white canvas shoes made of cotton, a white yachting cap also of cotton.

If men here would adopt the idea, wearing cotton in summer, they would be more comfortable and the cotton farmers more prosperous.

For those that can't afford too much "dry cleaning," the cotton suits could be dyed gray, brown, black.

Lawyers gathered at the solemn bar association meeting decided to poll the bar of the country and learn what it thinks of prohibition.

Some lawyers objected, saw a "lack of propriety" in such a poll. But a vote, ten to one, decided to ask lawyers, "Is prohibition a success or a failure, a blessing or a curse?"

Since the laws are made 99 per cent by lawyers, and interpreted 100 per cent by other lawyers on the bench, the lawyers' opinion is important.

It is difficult to think of any-

DEFY POLICE ON SACCO MEETINGS

Two Committees Intend to Hold Their Demonstrations, Though Denied Permits

Police laid plans today to cope with radicals, members of the Boston district, International Labor Defense, who plan to stage a demonstration at the Parkman bandstand on the Common at 6 p. m. tomorrow, the third anniversary of the execution of Nicola Sacco and Bartolomeo Vanzetti, in defiance of the authorities.

Denied a permit by Mayor Curley, leaders of this organization said today they intended to try to carry out their plans for the meeting.

Similar demonstrations, some of them without permit, are planned for Worcester, New Bedford, Lawrence, Fall River, Providence, and other places.

ANOTHER SACCO MEETING

Another organization, the Sacco-Vanzetti Memorial Committee, will conduct a meeting tomorrow at 8:30 p. m. at the Old South Meeting House, for which they have a permit.

On Sunday afternoon this committee although denied a permit, plan to make an attempt to hold a meeting at the Parkman bandstand.

There is no sympathy between the two organizations. Norman Kay, district organizer for the International Labor Defense, today challenged the right of the other committee to hold a meeting "in competition with us."

Commissioner Hultman and Acting Supt. Thomas F. Goode were conferring today over ways and means of meeting the situation.

EXTRA POLICE READY

Capt. Jeremiah Gallivan of Station 4, who is charged with the duty of policing the Common, was instructed to request reserves if he considered it necessary.

One of the speakers listed for tomorrow's meeting on the Common is Harry Canter, who served a term for his remarks about ex-Governor Fuller at a similar demonstration.

Rabbi Stephen S. Wise of New York, Edna St. Vincent Millay, the poet, and Alice Stone Blackwell, noted philanthropist, are among those listed to speak at the Old South Meeting House. Others are Paul U. Kellogg, Leonard Abbott and Gardner Jackson.

The Mooney-Billings case in California will be among the subjects discussed at this meeting. Three officers from Station 2, Milk st., will be asigned to the Old South at the request of the memorial commitee.

Circulars calling "workers of New England" to the demonstration set for tomorrow on the Common were to be circulated today in industrial sections.

Shamrock V., Sails Set, Off for Newport

New London, Conn., Aug. 21 (AP)—Shamrock V, Sir Thomas Lipton's sloop, challanger for the America's Cup, left here today for Newport, where she was scheduled to arrive this evening.

The Shamrock quit the harbor immediately after being launched from the marine railway where she was cleaned and painted.

American's Big Swim Saturday

At 3 o'clock sharp Saturday afternoon the Boston Evening American girls' swimming races will start in Charles river basin at the Esplanade, opposite Beacon and Arlington sts.

Upward of 120 girl swimmers and divers, many of them champions, will compete in a long list of events, the feature of which will be the N. E. A. A. U. championship mile.

There will be several special features, including exhibitions of life-saving and of water acrobatics.

Although the Esplanade offers vantage points for many thousands of spectators, it will be well to be on hand early to obtain the choicest "seats," free to all comers.

Custody of Franklin Fund to Full Bench

The question as to who has custody of the fund left the inhabitants of Boston by Benjamin Franklin, and now amounting to approximately $476,000, will be decided by the full bench of the Supreme Court.

Judge William Cushing Wait, before whom the question came on petition of City Treasurer Edmund L. Dolan, today reserved decision for the full court. Custody of the Carnegie Fund of $400,000 is also involved. Treasurer Dolan asked whether he or Charles E. Cotting, treasurer of the Franklin Foundation, had custody.

Malden Tax Rate Goes Up $3.80 to $33.40

Malden's tax rate for the coming year was announced today as $33.40, an increase of $3.80, and highest since 1924. The total valuation is set at $71,940,625, an increase of $1,100,000 over last year.

The rise in the tax rate is due to an increase in the municipal budget and county tax, and a revenue deficit from last year, it is explained. The total amount to be raised by taxation is $3,254,344.

Mayor Plans to Make Boston Day Holiday

Mayor Curley today invited 500 of the leading business men of the city to be his guests at a luncheon in the Boston City club Monday, at which they will be asked to consider what steps may be taken to have "Boston Day," Wednesday, Sept. 17, declared either a whole or a half holiday.

Boy Air Champ Hops Off for New Record

Municipal Airport, Los Angeles, Cal., Aug. 21 (AP)—Eddie Schneider, newly crowned East-West junior transcontinental speed king, took off at 6:17:30 a. m., P. S. T. (10:17 E. D. T.), today in an effort to establish a new West-East junior transcontinental air record.

He planned to make his first stop at Albuquerque, N. M.

K. C. PLEDGES CO-OPERATION TO HOOVER

In the resolution, the supreme knight and board of directors are authorized to "take all necessary action to make the order's participation in such relief work constructive and effective."

The resolution follows:

"Whereas, as the consequence of the extended period of extreme drouth recently affecting large sections of the United States, there have resulted conditions of acute distress in many agricultural States, due to the partial and in many instances complete failure of crops, and

KNIGHTS TO AID

"Whereas, the unfortunate circumstances of many citizens residing in those portions of the country included in the drouth area have challenged the attention of the nation and prompted President Hoover to initiate a comprehensive program of relief for those in need of assistance and to appeal for co-operation on the part of all; and,

"Whereas, the Knights of Columbus, individually and as an organization, have at all times and on all occasions, promptly and generously responded to the call of misfortune and distress; now, therefore,

"Be it Resolved that, in compliance with the traditions and principals and the past perfor-

SOME STORES OPEN AUG. 30

Several Boston department stores will be open on Saturday, Aug. 30, in advance of the Labor Day holiday.

Those which already have announced they will be open from 9 a. m. to 5 p. m. on the 30th are: Gilchrist's, Houghton and Dutton, the Shepard store, and Vorenberg's.

They are remaining open, the store officials say, for two reasons: to accommodate the great number of Greater Boston shoppers because of the Monday holiday; and to also accommodate the many tourists who expect to visit Boston, as a sort of Tercentenary pilgrimage, during the 3-day holiday, the final holidays of the summer touring season.

Other department stores are said to have the matter of staying open on the 30th under consideration.

"With a two-day holiday coming anyway, because of the Labor Day closing," said one store official today, "we do not feel we would be altogether fair with the public to also close up on Saturday. This would mean a three-day closing and this might work a hardship on many people who are unable to do their shopping during the week. Also, there will be many tourists in town for the last chance they'll have this summer, to see what is doing in our tercentenary celebration. It would be a shame for them to find all the stores closed and the town closed up like a village."

Police in Clash With Reth on Art Fire

Existence of an open clash between police and the state fire marshal's office, as a result of investigation into the Lincoln Art Galleries fire in Newbury st., became known today.

The arrest of Frederick Anderson of Ivory st., Roslindale, and John Kechejian, alias John Barton, alleged owners of the gallery, started the war between the two departments and led to charges by state fire officials that police had exceeded authority in making the arrests.

CHARGE INSURANCE PLOT

This was denied today by Police Commissioner Eugene C. Hultman, who declared it was his function as head of the police, to have crime investigated and that his men had arrested Anderson and Kechejian for the alleged crime of conspiring to defraud an insurance company.

The arrest of the men had brought a protest from State Fire Marshal John W. Reth that the arrests were in violation of an agreement and also that it is the province of his office and not of the police to investigate where arson is suspected.

Police charge that Barton had insured pictures in the gallery on the basis of an $800,000 valuation when the pictures actually had no greater aggregate value than $2500 or $3000.

Commissioner Hultman, a known art lover, said today of the dispute:

"When I learned of that fire I felt there was something wrong. I thought I had known all the art galleries in Boston, but here was this Lincoln Gallery almost around the corner from my own house and I was unaware of it.

"I therefore ordered police to investigate. As police commissioner it is my duty to have crime investigated, and I felt that this affair should be subjected to an investigation."

POLICE ARE QUESTIONED

Police Inspectors Warren Liese and Jeremiah Haggerty made the arrests. They admitted today that they had been called to Fire Marshal Reth's office as a result.

Deputy Police Supt. Thomas F. Goode is also known to have been closeted with the fire marshal as the representative of Commissioner Hultman.

According to the state fire marshal's office, an agreement was made between fire inspectors and police not to arrest the gallery proprietors until after the grand jury took action. That could not be before next month.

Peggy De Mille to Wed B. P. Fineman

New York, Aug. 21 (AP)—The New York American today said that Peggy De Mille, 20, daughter of William C. De Mille, motion picture director, was engaged to Bernard P. Fineman, associate producer for Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer. The paper quoted her as saying it was "love at first sight."

BOXER DENIES KNOWLEDGE OF MAINE KILLING

Portland Inspector Questions Him About Slain Patrolman; Garrett's Name in the Case

Johnny Wilson, former world's middleweight champion, was questioned in Boston this afternoon in connection with the "handcuff murder" of Patrolman Michael T. Connolly at Portland, Me., a week ago.

The quiz was conducted by Inspector John Maguire at the office of the former fighter's lawyer, Francis Juggins, in a State st. building.

Inspector Maguire arrived in Boston from Portland at noon and was told of Wilson's whereabouts by Boston police with whom the boxer had been in communication several times during the morning.

SECOND DEATH QUIZ

Wilson, who volunteered yesterday to submit to questioning after he had read in newspapers that Portland authorities were conducting a search for him, appeared anxious to get the meeting over with and said he welcomed all questions. He denied any knowledge of Connolly's death.

It was his second appearance in the limelight of a murder probe. A little more than a year ago he was a central figure in the investigation of the murder of his former manager, Frankie Marlow, in New York.

The Portland inspector was delayed in his motor trip to Boston and Wilson telephoned local officers on several occasions to inquire if he had arrived.

While Chief Haskell of Portland rose to the news that Wilson was in Boston ready for Portland quizzing and was even ready to go to Portland if he were wanted, County Attorney Ralph M. Ingalls of Portland refused to declare himself on the subject.

WILSON'S OFFER

"Do you want Wilson?" Ingalls was asked.

"I refuse to say anything on the subject."

Chief Haskell, while in doubt even as to whether Oliver B. Garrett were "wanted," immediately dispatched Inspector Maguire to

59 LEADERS WHO 'RULE THE UNITED STATES' NAMED BY GERARD

GREAT POWER WIELDED BY WEALTH

Position in Nation Gives Permanent Influence on American Life

New York, Aug. 21 (AP)—In the opinion of James W. Gerard, formerly ambassador to Germany, 59 men "rule the United States."

Mr. Gerard compiled a list of these men for today's New York Times, which asked him to amplify a sentence in a pamphlet he wrote indorsing the crusade of Viscount Rothermere and Lord Beaverbrook for British Empire free trade and high protection. In that pamphlet he wrote:

"Give the 40 men who rule the United States 10 years for the development of this industrial empire (The British Empire) and no country on earth could approach it in per capita wealth."

Explaining why he, as an American, should write on the subject, Mr. Gerard wrote: "I offer as my excuse the interest that America, in common with all the world, has in the preservation of British prosperity."

NO OFFICE HOLDERS

The list includes leaders in American finance, industry, the amusement field and journalism, but omits President Hoover and all others holding state and national offices.

Mr. Gerard explains the actual "power behind the throne" is wielded by men whose wealth and important industrial positions in the nation give them a permanent influence in American life. Statesmen, he said, are usually shorn of most of their power when they retire.

BIG STEEL MEN

Myron C. Taylor, chairman finance committee United States Steel Corporation; James A. Farrell, president United States Steel Corporation; Charles M. Schwab, chairman Bethlehem Steel Corporation; Eugene C. Grace, president Bethlehem Steel Corporation; H. M. Warner and Adolph Zukor, motion picture magnates; William H. Crocker, banker; O. P. and N. J. Van Sweringen, railroad magnates; W. W. Atterbury, president Pennsylvania Railroad; Arthur Curtiss James, large holder of railroad securities.

THE DU PONT FAMILY

Charles Hayden, financier; Daniel C. Jackling, president Utah Copper Company; Arthur V. Davis, president Aluminum Company of America; P. G. Gossler, president Columbia Gas and Electric Corporation; R. C. Holmes, president Texas Corporation, oil producer; John J. Raskob; the Du Pont family (seven members); Edward J. Berwind, financier; Daniel Willard, president Baltimore & Ohio Railroad.

Sosthenes Behn, chairman International Telephone and Telegraph Corporation; Walter S. Gifford, chairman American Telephone and Telegraph Company; Owen D. Young, chairman General Electric Company; Gerard Swope, president General Electric Company; Thomas W. Lamont, of J. P. Morgan and Company; Albert H. Wiggin, banker; Charles E. Mitchell, banker.

HEARST AND CURTIS

William Randolph Hearst, publisher; Robert R. McCormick and Joseph Medill Patterson, publishers; Julius Rosenwald, merchant; Cyrus H. K. Curtis, publisher; Roy W. Howard, publisher.

No attempt was made by Mr. Gerard to rank his selections according to his opinion of their importance, but he expressed the belief that as a class the bankers exert the greatest influence, because they control the pursestrings of the nation.

He declared while all these men are too busy to run for political office, their influence, financial, industrial and semi-political, determines the men who shall go in office.

U. S. Deb Wed to N. E. Man in Paris

Paris, Aug. 21 (AP)—Miss Elinor Latane, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. John Latane of Baltimore, was married here today to William S. Bissell of Farmington, Ct. The bride, whose father is professor of history at Johns Hopkins, attended Byrn Mawr and made her debut in Baltimore last year.

Boston to see Wilson, declaring that he did want to talk to the boxer.

Meanwhile, Wilson, who had been named in dispatches from Maine as being "wanted" by Portland police, had communicated with Inspector James Claflin of police headquarters here.

He said he was in Boston and would stay here if the police wanted to see him. He further declared that he would voluntarily go to Portland if they wanted him there.

RUSHED TO BOSTON

Boston police then called Portland and were referred to County Atty. Ingalls and Chief Haskell. Word was also given Inspector Claflin that a telegram would be sent if Portland wanted Wilson's arrest.

As to Garrett, County Atty. Ingalls was silent as he was on the subject of Wilson.

Chief Haskell, however, said point-blank that Portland police did not "want" Garrett, although he did not know whether or not Ingalls did.

"Everybody's looking for Garrett, but we do not want him in this investigation."

The naming of Garrett in the Connolly murder probe has arisen from statements made by County Atty. Ingalls that he would like to talk to the former Boston rum-raider, defaulted on court appearance in Boston and now missing 60 days.

Two detectives from the office of Dist.-Atty. Foley had been to Portland on that very angle but returned here yesterday in the belief that Garrett would not be found in the Maine investigation.

Police details along the Portland waterfront were ordered doubled early today, following an early morning chase of a blue limousine.

Names of officers in the chase were withheld by police "because one is dead now," they explained.

FIND GARRETT POLICY

Chief Haskell announced today that he was investigating reports that at least two officers "of the early night shift" were active with rum runners along the waterfront.

He said that, in addition to extra police vigilance, he had been assured by officers of the Coast Guard cutter Ossipee, stationed here, of their full support in a keen vigilance of harbor activities.

The elusive Garrett popped up in many places again, including clues from Canton, Chelsea, Maine and the Marshfield Fair.

An old accident insurance policy of the ex-raider's, with a note of Mrs. Garrett's enclosed, was found in Canton by a Chelsea truck driver. He is Edward Conron of Heard st., Chelsea.

The policy was one that lapsed some time ago but its condition showed that it hadn't lain in the street very long.

The policy was brought to the Boston Evening American office by three youths, one of whom said he was Conron.

Sergt. John B. Willard of police headquarters sought an interview with the trio but reported that the addresses they gave were wrong.

$5000 Reward

The Boston Evening American will pay a reward of $5000 for information furnished FIRST and EXCLUSIVELY to this paper resulting in the capture of Oliver B. Garrett as a fugitive from justice. WORLD A-PLANE IS HEADED FOR AIR RACES

Army, Navy and Governmental Chiefs to Honor Byrd Before Big Chicago Meet Starts

Chicago, Aug. 21 (AP)—The highways of the sky were dotted today with airplanes speeding Chicagoward for the national air races.

From the west, south and east—the Pacific, Atlantic and Gulf coasts—contest derbies forged on from overnight stops. Other planes bore the "who's who" of American aviation.

"The Red Rippers," the Fifth fighting squadron from the U. S. S. aircraft Lexington, were headed toward the contest field at the Curtiss Glenview airport from an overnight stop in Kansas City.

By rail came the foreign invasion, escorted by Lieut. Al Williams, former navy racing ace. The European contingent included Lieut. Com. L. R. Atcherly of England, Marcel Doret of France, Capt. Fritz Lohse of Germany, Marshal Pietro Colombo of Italy.

Senator Hiram Bingham, president of the National Aeronautic Association, was due today with other officials.

With the Marine Corps' Squadron Eight as an escort, Washington's aviation officialdom moved westward. The contingent included Rear Admiral William A. Moffett, chief of the Navy Bureau of Aeronautics; Maj. Gen. James E. Fechet, chief of the Army Air Corps; F. Trubee Davison, assistant secretary of war for aeronautics; David A. Ingalls, assistant secretary of the Navy, and W. Irving Glover, assistant postmaster general in charge of air mails.

At the National Aeronautical banquet tomorrow night, Rear Admiral Richard E. Byrd, conqueror of the North and South Poles, will be presented with the diploma of honorary membership.

Four score privately owned planes from the south and southwest will gather in St. Louis tonight for an armada-approach on Chicago tomorrow to participate in the official welcome.

Lundgren at Capital for Flight Papers

Redberry Council, K. of C. Plans Sail

The annual moonlight sail of Redberry Council, Knights of Columbus, Dorchester, will be given next Wednesday aboard the steamship Allerton. Along the North and South Shores the Knights will cruise from 8:30 to 11:30 and there will be dancing, with music by the ship's orchestra. The boat will leave Rowe's Wharf at 8:30. The committee in charge is composed of John J. Concannon, chairman; Norman Thoreson, treasurer, and Charles Galvin, secretary.

Mussolini at Home of His Dead Nephew

Cesenatico, Italy, Aug. 21 (AP)—Premier Mussolini arrived here today and went at once to Villa Gregorimi, where the body of his nephew, Sandro Mussolini, who died yesterday, was laid out. There was a touching scene when the Duce met his brother, Sandro's father.

King and Queen Are Going to Balmoral

London, Aug. 21 (AP)—King George and Queen Mary will leave for Balmoral tomorrow. It will be the first visit of His Majesty to his Scottish seat since his recent illness. The Duke of Gloucester and Prince George will be at Balmoral, but the Prince of Wales is not expected to go north.

Um, Um! 128-Pound Melon for Hoover

Savannah, Ga., Aug. 21 (AP)—President Hoover will be the recipient of what the producer believes to be the largest watermelon ever grown in the United States. The melon is en route to the President from E. T. Clements of Sandersville, Ga., and weighs 128 pounds.

TERRORS OF AIR IN WAR CALLED EXAGGERATED

Edward P. Warner Says the Present Predictions May Overshoot Reality

Williamstown, Aug. 21 (AP)—The terrors of aircraft activities in discussing future wars are sometimes over-estimated, Edward P. Warner, former assistant secretary of the navy for aeronautics, told the Institute of Politics today.

The record of experience, so far as experience exists, "is of more value than speculations on the frightfulness of future aerial warfare," he said. He recalled that Great Britain had been warned of disastrous air attacks two years before the last war and that her defenses proved more effective than had been anticipated. "It is possible," he said, "that present predictions may also overshoot reality."

He pointed out that while aircraft have been improved since 1918 they haven't changed in essential nature and that fundamental principles of bombing attack and repulse remain the same.

The gas bomb, he said, "is an ugly possibilitl of the next war, but the power of gas is sometimes over-estimated. He declared competent scientists have estimated that 10,000 tons of bombs would be required to gas a city of the size of New York, and said anticipations that entire capitals can be wiped out in a few minutes in a single raid appear considerably to exceed the facts."

Two Pass Exams for Dedham Police Chief

Of the six Dedham police officers taking examinations for chief of police, two qualified, according to announcement made by the Civil Service Commission today.

Sergt. Henry Wragg, acting chief of police, received the highest rating and patrolman John McCartny was second. Sergt. Wragg will probably be promoted to the chief's office and Patrolman McCarthy made sergeant.

Hultman Makes Killen Captain

In general orders issued last night, Police Commissioner Eugene C. Hultman announced the promotion of Lieut. Matthew Killen to the grade of captain, the elevation in rank to become effective tomorrow morning. At the same time the commissioner raised Sergt. John C. Blake of the Athens st. station to lieutenant, and Patrolman Patrick J. Freeley of Brighton station to sergeant. Blake will take up his lieutenancy duties at the Dudley st. station, while Freeley, as a sergeant, will be attached to the Athens st. house.

In Coma, Five Days After Suicide Try

Leominster, Aug. 21—Despondency because her fiance gave her up for a younger woman was given by police today as the reason for the attempted suicide of Mrs. Rose Tes Gronge, 38, of Mechanic st.

Although the woman is said to have swallowed poison last Saturday night, no report was made to police until early today. Mrs. Tes Gronge, who was not not taken to a hospital, has been unconscious at her apartment five days, and little hope is held for her recovery police say.

thing, in the way of murderous violence, that our prohibition-bootleg-racketeer crime wave has not produced. But somebody in Portland, Maine, thought of something new. This person, unknown, overcame Policeman Michael T. Connolly, tied his wrists together with his own handcuffs, threw him in the water at Portland, Maine, and drowned him.

Refined sugar yesterday dropped to the lowest price "for all time," 4.44 cents a pound.

Apples are cheap.

Take apples not quite ripe, boil them, let the juice drip from a bag, then squeeze the bag. Make apple jelly, one cup of sugar to one cup of apple juice, and you will have through the winter an excellent nourishing and cheerful food for your children. That jelly, on bread, with fresh butter under the jelly, is a food, almost complete. Vitamins and all.

Jack Zuta, Chicago gangster, murdered by competitors—cash benefactor of Chicago legislators, public officials and "reformers"—collected uncut diamonds. His theory was "they will always be good." Police say he had $150,000 worth of the precious stones hidden somewhere and are looking for them.

That's the other interesting piece of crime news.

A few of the "best minds" in Pennsylvania don't want Pinchot for governor, but will probably have to take him.

Mrs. Hoover Sets A Guest Precedent

Washington, Aug. 21 (AP)—Serenely continuing to choose her own closest companions, Mrs. Herbert Hoover has co-ordinated personal interests and public life in a manner unique in White House history.

Mrs. Hoover

Ever since her arrival in the executive mansion there have been beneath its hospitable roof one or more women guests. These have been kindred spirits who come on call—and stay for weeks or months—helping Lou Henry Hoover be herself as well as the wife of the President.

They have been principally from Palo Alto—Californians versed in out-of-door living, members of a Stanford University coterie which has combined college culture with rambles in the Redwoods. They have known their Girl Scout lore.

Lady Diana Manners to Return to Stage

New York, Aug. 21—Plans for her return to the legitimate stage in the fall, were announced by Lady Duff-Cooper of England, known to theatergoers as Lady Diana Manners, who played the Nun in "The Miracle."

Lady Manners

Lady Manners made the announcement when she visited New York enroute to Canada where she will rest prior to her return to the stage.

The British society matron has not been in good health since the birth of a son last year. Complications arose following the child's birth and Lady Manners' condition was considered serious for a time.

It's the Simple Life For Wales in Country

London, Aug. 21—Edward, Prince of Wales has become tired of social functions, so he has decied to spend the rest of the Summer living the life of an English country gentleman.

Prince of Wales

He has gone into seclusion at Fort Belvedere, his Summer home outside London, and does not intend to lay any more corner stones, make any further after-dinner speeches at public banquets, or open any more clinics, nurseries or bridges until the end of September.

By then he will have to prepare for his trip to South America, and so have another excuse to avoid public functions, which he is known to dislike.

In the meantime, he hopes to get in lots of golf, flying and gardening.

Fannie Hurst Sees Marriage as Big Problem

London, Aug. 21 (US)—"How to be happy though married," is the dominant note in a world full of problems, according to Fannie Hurst, one of America's most widely known modern novelists. And sax. Well . . .

Fannie Hurst.

"What troubles the world most today is to learn how men and women can live endurably in wedlock. Everywhere I travel, I meet with tremendous dissatisfaction with marriage and every country seems to be equally clumsy in handling the situation."

Miss Hurst, not content with merely stating the problem, spent several days while in London in visiting the English divorce courts. She has now departed for Paris to spend a few weeks.

AIMEE M'PHERSON THREATENS TO SUE MOTHER FOR SLANDER

WILL PREACH SUNDAY, SAYS EVANGELIST

Meantime Mystery Shrouds Cause of Quarrel and "Snake Throwing"

Los Angeles, Cal., Aug. 21—The "tantrum drama" of Aimee Semple McPherson, evangelist, and her mother, Mrs. Minnie Kennedy, today threatened to include a courtroom act.

It was said Aimee's personal representative would call upon the mother and warn her that if she does not cease talking about her "broken nose" a suit for slander will be filed immediately.

Recovering at a Malibu cottage from a mysterious illness, Mrs McPherson, builder of Angelus Temple, said she would preach there Sunday as usual, and revealed her present attitude toward her mother, who accused her of smashing her nose.

"All I ask of mother is that she go away and let me alone," Mrs. McPherson said. "She talks about coming back to the Temple, but I don't want her there.

AIMEE INDIGNANT

Reminded of "Ma" Kennedy's accusation that her daughter had had her face "lifted," and that she intimated the illness was due to the plastic surgery rather than shattered nerves, Mrs. McPherson became indignant.

"Why all this talk of plastic beauty?" she asked. "Why this consternation and much ado over nothing? All I have to say to mother is, 'Go and talk no more. Keep your face and do anything you want with your nose. Give me in return only a chance to go in my own helpful way.'"

A new version of the quarrel was given by Mae Waldron, vice-president of the Echo Park Evangelistic Association and prominent member of Angelus Temple. She said she had to lock Mrs. Kennedy in a clothes closet in the Temple to keep her quiet a few weeks ago.

"We haven't spoken for two months—not since our big fight," declared Miss Waldron.

"She accused me of all sorts of things. I had to lock her in a closet to keep her quiet.

And, with equal vigor, Mrs. Kennedy countered:

"That Waldron woman is at the bottom of everything. She ought to be thrown out of the temple. She ought to be prosecuted for what she is saying about Aimee."

EIGHT PERISH IN YACHT WRECK

Fowey, Cornwall, Eng., Aug. 21 (AP)—Commodore Henry Douglas King, Conservative member of Parliament, brilliant soldier and one-time aide-de-camp to King George was believed to have met death with probably seven others aboard the motor yacht Islander wrecked in Lantivet Bay.

One woman, two children and Dr. A. R. Brailey, well-known naval surgeon were believed aboard the vessel.

Police reported the bodies of two children had been washed ashore.

A local resident said he saw what appeared to be two women and a boy washed overboard from the yacht. Mrs. King, the commander's wife, holidaying on the Isle of Wight, expressed the belief however that there were no women on the Islander.

Doctor Convicted of Attacking Officer

Dr. Sumner C. Andrews of Cambridge, medical examiner for the Civil Service Commission, was found guilty in Salem District Court today of assaulting a policeman, and his wife was found guilty of being intoxicated and disturbing the peace.

The case was the aftermath of a brawl on the yacht Bobylink in Salem harbor. Patrolman O'Neil was forced to use his stick on the physician, he testified at a hearing which lasted all of yesterday and part of today. And he saved Mrs. Andrews from drowning, he told the court.

After the finding of guilty the charge of assault preferred against the doctor was placed on file. Judge Charles A. Murphy found him not guilty of being drunk and disturbing the peace.

Mrs. Andrews did not fare so well. The manner in which she disturbed the peace warranted a $25 fine, court decided, and that amount she was sentenced to pay. The drunkenness charge was filed.

James W. Sullivan of Lynn, attorney for Dr. Andrews, agreed there was sufficient evidence to warrant a finding of guilty on the assault charge.

15 on Liner Arrested in Immigration Plot

Brussels, Aug. 21 (AP)—Upon arrival of the Congo ship Elisabethville at Antwerp today police went aboard her and, at the instruction of the Portuguese government, arrested 15 passengers who had embarked at Lisbon.

Investigation revealed that two Portuguese, Sr. Conceicao, 57, and Antonio Francisco, 30, with Conceicao's wife, had lured 12 other Portuguese into embarking for Antwerp, from where they had been promised transportation to the United States and splendid jobs when they got there.

The three had extracted considerable money from their 12 victims, all of whom will be sent back to Portugal.

K. C. Laud Cardinal in Hearty Message

As the final business session of the Knights of Columbus convention came to a close today, the delegates, through a committee, prepared and sent the following message to Cardinal O'Connell:

"The hearts of our officers and delegates to the 48th annual convention of Knights of Columbus at Boston are filled with deepest affection as we vizualize the personal co-operation of Your Eminence, the primate of the American hierarchy, the distinguished Cardinal Archbishop of Boston.

"Language is entirely inadequate to properly express our appreciation and gratitude to you for your constant interest in our order.

"To you, the first citizen of our Commonwealth—the most distinguished ecclesiastic in America—we offer this expression of our loyalty and love.

"May God grant you many, many years to fulfill the great duties of Holy Mother Church so as to continue to receive the great success with which your episcopacy has been so singularly blessed.

REVERE MAYOR DENIES GANGS RULE CITY

Mayor Casassa Says Attacks Following Vets' Club Shooting Are of Political Nature

Branding attacks on his administration as political claptrap, calculated to injure him in his fight for re-election, Mayor Andrew J. Casassa of Revere today accused his enemies of attempting to elevate themselves to the detriment of the city.

Meanwhile John Malcolm Macauley, an investigator of the Revere law department, charged that "gangsters and big shot gamblers" have been making Revere their headquarters and that the mayor and Chief of Police Tighe neglected to act, although informed of conditions.

Mayor Casassa, breaking the silence he had maintained since the fatal gun battle of rival gangsters in the Revere Veterans' clubhouse last Friday, declared that "Revere is as clean as any city in the Metropolitan area.

PERSONAL PROBES

"These attacks, in my opinion, have been inspired by political opponents desirous of injuring me on the eve of an important campaign. As far as I am concerned it has been my main effort to keep Revere as clean as any city in the Metropolitan area," he said.

"Whenever complaints as to conditions have been brought to my attention from any source whatever I have always taken care that the police conducted a thorough investigation.

"I can safely say that I have exerted every energy to clean-up Revere if clean-up were necessary. Our work here has received the commendation of prohibition authorities, both federal and state. From my own observation I can say that there are no really 'big time' bootleggers in Revere. Of course there are some small fellows."

Discussing the Revere veterans' case, Casassa declared that neither he nor anyone connected with his administration had any inkling that a large gambling organization would "hide behind the skirts" of a World War veteran group.

Macauley's attack was centered chiefly around charges that pressure brought on certain members of the City Council had resulted in extending the hour of closing poolrooms and bowling alleys to 1 a. m.

"The big dice and card men had little difficulty in bringing about the change for certain members of the council at that time and other politicians of the city were vitally interested in the success of the gambling joints and slot machine rackets," Macauley said.

PAID GUNMEN

"It was a sorry sight to witness city officials acting as come-on men for the gimmicks gathered about the slot machines. Whether the gun-battle waged by gangsters last Friday will have a deterring effect on gambling joints in the city remains to be seen.

"Gangsters and big-shot gamblers have made their headquarters here for many months unmolested by the police. It was generally known that the operators of big games had paid gunmen at their sides during the crap games guarding the stakes which often totalled over $25,000.

CONVENTION TO END TONIGHT WITH BALL TO DELEGATES

mances of our order, the Knights of Columbus, in this convention assembled, tender to the President of the United States the sincere cooperation of our membership and our organization in his efforts to relieve the distress of the citizens of those sections of the country afflicted by the drought, and that the Supreme Knight and the board of directors be authorized and empowered to take all necessary action to make the order's participation in such relief work constructive and effective, and that like cooperation be extended to those in authority, in the event of similar opportunity for relief work arising in other countries where our order is established."

Signers of the resolution, all from drouth-affected sections, were: Francis F. Matthews, chairman; Leo J. Wegman of Iowa, Edward D. Buckley of South Carolina, Walter A Lynch of New York State, C. B. Boone of Mississippi, Albert A. Kiar of Nebraska, Thomas M. Callahan of Louisiana, John F. O'Donnell of Indiana, C. P. A. Lonergan of Oregon and S. R. Polley of Saskatchewan.

OTHER RESOLUTIONS

A number of other resolutions were submitted to the supreme board of directors today, among them one proposing that the directors appropriate sufficient money to guaranteee continuance of the National Catholic Radio Hour for at least another year.

Many proposed resolutions were rejected by the committee. Among resolutions submitted to the board were the following:

That the Supreme Council consider the matter of adding a new degree higher than the present fourth degree.

That a council be given the right to show cause why it should not be made a member of a chapter.

A resolution from Cuba, asking that the insurance feature be extended to that country.

A resolution that all communications to Spanish-speaking councils be printed or written in Spanish.

That a commission be established to set forth the true attitude of Catholics on questions of State, economics, education and industry.

MAY ESTABLISH HOME

That a monument be placed on the grave of Brother Banahas at Sante Fe, N. M., in honor of the founder of the Knights of Columbus boys' work program.

A resolution proposing a home for aged and indigent members of the order was referred to a special committee of the board, but another, proposing a sanitarium for tubercular patients was rejected.

A festival of music on Boston Common this afternoon was expected to be one of the most colorful events of the convention.

A triumphant ball tonight will climax the social program.

During the morning, ladies of the convention party went on a tour of Boston shops, and in the afternoon many of them gathered in the suite of Mrs. John E. Swift, wife of the supreme director, to learn the new, smart game of camelot.

Director Swift and Joseph M. Kirby, state deputy, issued a statement to the delegates today, which said:

"The Massachusetts State Council, as host to the members of the Supreme Council, hope that all have enjoyed their stay in the Commonwealth.

"To the members of their own jurisdiction who have not been able to be with us, we ask that you and delegates present here carry back home the fraternal greetings of your Massachusetts brothers."

Cardinal O'Connell, in his address to the convention yesterday, gave high praise to delegates and to the press, and said in part:

"My purpose in coming here is to say in a few words, but none the less hearty and sincere words, how much the whole community is impressed by your presence and purpose here.

"The fact that the community is impressed is very evident to me because I hear it and see it on all sides.

"Your coming to Boston for this convention has been to me a source of great satisfaction and pleasure.

"Boston, in a way, is off the main track, nowadays. It is a part of the nation—that is a little aside from the rest.

"Those who do not know us well throughout the country have a wrong idea regarding the character of New England's people. Throughout the rest of the country the people of New England are supposed to be very aloof.

"I testify on my personal experience that once the good people of New England, Massachusetts and Boston are convinced that any organization, or any body of men, are worthy of their approbation they give it heartily, cordially and it will last.

LAUDS GOVERNOR, MAYOR

"I'm so glad that you came here for your convention. I think meetings of men here from all parts of the world, and from America especially, brings a dual benefit. It benefits those who give and those who take. It benefits the men who come into the community and the community into which they come.

"I am impressed by the way you have been received here by State and city officials.

"You couldn't misunderstand the genuine cordiality that rang through the greeting of the governor, which I listened to over the radio. The governor of this Commonwealth, really a very superior type of man, is very broad both in his sympathies and his understanding. He showed you a cordiality that was really admirable and is very precious to us all.

"The mayor, one of you and one of us, had a very warm spot in his heart for you, which was shown in his address of welcome.

"As for me, my dear men, you know how I consider you, you are just my boys."

At this point the convention chamber burst into an uproar of clapping and cheering that lasted for several minutes.

"I want to say, now, that I have a genuine gratitude to the press for the very expansive way they manifested the welcome to this wonderful gathering.

PRAISE FOR NEWSPAPERS

"Every single paper has opened its doors and its heart to you in a cordial welcome. I for my part am very grateful for this.

"The press, in a certain sense, is the pulse of the community. When the press beats warm and strong it is assured that the heart of the community beats firm, strong and warm.

"I for my part express to all the papers and journalists my sincere appreciation for the very great kindness shown to you which I feel is also an act of kindness to me because, I repeat, you are my boys."

The Cardinal then paid a tribute to the Massachusetts State Council Choral Society and to Joseph Ecker its director, stating that he never heard his hymns sung better than by the Choral Society at the mass at the Cathedral.

SUPPORTS CARMODY'S PLAN

Concerning the Lay Apostolate, the Cardinal said:

"There is one other point which I did not touch on when I spoke to you before which I wish to emphasize now. Just before I came here this afternoon I was reading the message of your Supreme Knight to the convention.

"What he said on the Lay Apostolate I indorse—every single word he said. Such a body would solve a great many of the problems that confront the Church and the country today.

"The clergy are at work all the time but the clergy cannot reach everyone. The co-operation and support of the Catholic laymen, not financially, is what is needed to augment the work of the clergy.

"The Lay Apostolate, which would take interest away from ourselves and center it on others, would meet the problems of the State, society at large and serve the needs of the community in which we live.

"Please God, the day is coming, and I hope very soon, for all feel the need of it, when the Knights of Columbus and other Catholic laymen will take an active hand in the work of the Church.

"The order of the clergy, the supreme pontiff, the bishops, and priests, is an order established by Christ and is an order that cannot be changed and which has come down to us through the ages.

MUST MEET PROBLEMS

"Whatever civilization we have today the Catholic Church is responsible for. Everyone knows that who has studied history. Christian civilization in Europe is due to the Papacy, the heirarchy and the priests of the Catholic Church.

"Today, society has become very complexed with questions of commerce, finance, manufacturing and all the new things that have come into our life which have given rise to tremendous problems which have to be met.

"How are we going to settle the relations between capital and labor? It is easy to make soapbox speeches that set the world afire for one side or the other. This does not help toward the solution of the problem in any way. It just gives rise to one-sided people who do not appreciate the problem of the other side.

"What we must do on big problems is work together.

"I do not wish to say anything that might be construed in the least offensive to anyone. But the Catholic Church is the finest organization in the world. That has been proven. It has surmounted rebellions and revolutions to grow stronger than ever.

Boston Stores Delight Wives of Knights

Whether she comes from the far places of Manitoba, the patios of Havana or the cities and towns of the United States, a woman must go shopping to really enjoy herself.

KNIGHTS OF COLUMBUS

Today hundreds of women visitors to the Knights of Columbus convention, invaded Boston's shops and the delighted chorus that followed fully repaid their understanding leader, Miss Mary Tracy, chairman of the committee.

There were furs that intrigued with their quality, beauty and values, and "coats so reasonably priced that I got two," explained Mrs. Patrick J. Glynn of Kansas City.

And there were school wardrobes that kept the delegates' daughters in a fever of excitement until the precious boxes containing their purchases were actually in their hands.

"I just love this dress," declared Miss Ruth Boyland of Grand Rapids, Mich., who pridefully displayed the exceptional value, while Miss Mary Callahan of Washington and Miss Catherine Hart of St. Louis selected fall hats in a Winter st. store.

Miss Elizabeth Mulvaney of Chicago wore a new brown felt hat out of the store as she happily departed hotelward to meet her brother, Vincent Mulvaney, delegate from Casper, Wyo.

The women started shopping in buses, but the original group that visited the large stores in a body scattered quickly in the various department stores.

GREAT DAY FOR THEM

Miss Tracy was assisted by Miss Catherine Matthews and Miss Foley in conducting the groups through the stores.

Mrs. Martin H. Carmody, wife of Supreme Knight Carmody of Grand Rapids announced she was devoting her afternoon to buying a coat for her daughter, Mary Louise.

"I have never enjoyed anything in my life like shopping in these wonderful stores," observed Mrs. Joseph J. Sullivan of Salina, Kan., wife of State Deputy Sullivan. "The quality of the merchandise makes every purchase a great satisfaction to me. And having so many good stores so near together makes shopping here much pleasanter than in many large cities."

Mrs. Philip J. Kerwan of Glenwood Springs, Col., wife of a district deputy, spent a delightful day studying the new fall styles.

"I feel like making an annual pilgrimage to your city just to buy," exclaimed Mrs. John Peter Trainer of Graceville, Minn., wife of Past Deputy Trainer.

Several of the women were guests of Mrs. John E. Swift on a yachting party along the North Shore today when the City of Boston carried them on the cruise.

HAVE NO HOPE OF FINDING BLACK

Baltimore, Md., Aug. 21 (AP)—Search was at an end today for the body of Van Lear Black, Baltimore publisher and capitalist and world flier, who disappeared Monday night from his yacht. All hope that he might have survived was abandoned here, but filing of his will is expected to be delayed a week or more.

The instrument will dispose of an estate estimated at from $15,000,000 to $40,000,000, it is believed. Mr. Black, publisher of the Baltimore Sun and Evening Sun, was known as the wealthiest man in Maryland.

Following the hearing at New York today before federal steamboat inspectors, Capt. John J. Kelley planned to return to Baltimore on the yacht, the Sabalo. He planned to make another search for the body near the position of the yacht, about 12 miles off the New Jersey coast, when Mr. Black disappeared.

Ford's Bear Keeps Hop Ahead on Hunt; Is Found Asleep

Dearborn, Mich., Aug. 21 (AP) There was a bear hunt on Henry Ford's estate yesterday, but neither the bear nor the 50 employes who hunted him looked upon it as a sporting event.

The lone specimen of the bruin tribe owned by the manufacturer broke out of his pen, and for 8½ hours there was considerable beating of bushes. The bear had several narrow escapes, but kept a jump ahead until, wearied by the unusual exertion, he dozed off under a tree.

One of the more husky employes intensified bruin's sleep with a club, and the animal was recaptured.

Fear Several Dead as Taxi Goes Into Canal

Sault Ste. Marie, Ont., Aug. 21 (AP)—A taxicab skidded on the bridge over a canal in Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., last night and went through the railing into the canal. Percy Smith, driver, lost his life. It is thought there were three persons in the cab with Smith.

4000 INVADERS ARE SLAIN BY CHINESE

Hankow, Aug. 21 (AP)—The slaughter of 4000 Communists by provincial trops in western Kiangsi province and the capture of 2000 Red rifles there were reported today in Chinese press dispatches.

This apparently is the first crushing defeat administered to the Red marauders who have been murdering, looting and burning throughout the Yangtse valley for several weeks.

News of the provincial victory followed closely word of the burning of Wusueh, Hupeh province, by Communists, who looted the city of 6000 population and ransacked the countryside.

Await News on Bombing of Baptist Mission

Shanghai, Aug. 21 (AP)—Headquarters of the Southern Baptist Mission here was without information today concerning the reported bombing of its premises at Kweilin, Kwangsi province. Prior to Aug. 13 Canton forces, acting for the Nationalist government, attacked the rebel stronghold at Kweilin, but failed to take the city.

SOMETHING TO THINK ABOUT

Editor Boston American:

I read your esteemed editorial on the problems of the Elevated road. I heartily agree with you that under the present management more rapid transit extensions will be under way such as you mentioned, and that private management may stop further developments.

Wonder if Mr. Twohig and the public have forgotten that the "L" was almost bankrupt in 1918, and since the general manager and board of trustees took over the destinies of the road it is worth double the amount. Why not give credit where credit is due?

Declares P. O. Department Is Run on the Square

Editor Boston American:

The writer is pleased to inform Max Henry Newman that he has heard on apparent good authority that the district served by Station A is not to lose its Post Office.

The writer wishes it to be distinctly understood that he did not in any way intend in his last letter on this matter to suggest that anyone had been wrongfully treated by the U. S. government, or that unfair denial of the use of the mails had been inflicted on any persons to his knowledge.

Nor did the writer state that the people in charge of the Boston Postoffice were opposed to undue publicity in regard to certain changes in Boston mail matters. He certainly did not, any more than he would dare to state as a fact that carrier who ventured to voice a criticism would find things decidedly difficult for him.

The writer would like to ask the following question of those who do not understand the varying changes in Postal regulations and routine.

"Do you not know, good citizens, that the U. S. Government has experts who by carefully gathered statistics far better than you can know what service serves you best in mail matters? That they have in Washington D. C., efficiency experts who carefully go into the matter even about the little affairs of your mail and that these men know far better than YOU ever can know what is best?

"Therefore let the sentiment that the Boston Post Office Department could ever be guilty of playing politics die down and bring no more to your minds that it is safe to hold this opinion.

"For the Post Office Department is RUN ON THE SQUARE."

A Scotch Lass Who Is Strong for Boston

Editor Boston American:

Please permit me to return praise of America and its wonderful citizens as I observe in an article in your paper in praising the shrewd Scotch. I wish to state that America blessed me with one of the truest and most honorable of husbands and it was in Boston I met him. So Boston has been mighty good to me. The Stars and Stripes has always supplied me with bread very generously buttered. I'll always love America and also my native heath.

He'll Vote for the Man Running as a "Wet"

Editor Boston American:

United Wet Voters Association; our object in the next election is to vote for a wet candidate, whether he is a Democrat or a Republican.

He must be vouched for by the Constitutional Liberty League, or some other society who will guarantee he is wet, and will do his very utmost to repeal the Eighteenth Amendment.

Our association is two years old, and its members are both Republicans and Democrats. The way out of this class legislation is for all working men and women to get together and vote wet. And now is the time to do it.

Wants All to Study Politics in School

Editor Boston American:

Is America becoming a business empire? Are business interests and projects to supplant politics? These questions came up before a number of persons at the Boston City Club who had recently attended the conference at Williamstown.

Dr. W. H. Hamilton, of Yale University, was quoted as saying recently: "America is not politically minded. We are being ruled entirely along mechanical lines which throw out political interests and industrial matters get first and sometimes exclusive attention."

The time is ripe right here in Massachusetts that every one show more direct intensive interest in political situations. Make the coming generation of both sexes study politics in school and college life. Let us make politics a science, not a scrimmage for offices.

JOHN N. McCOMB.

Friend of Sunday Sports Passes on

Editor Boston American:

The death of the Rev. Dr. D. C. Garrett, of Concord, during the past week removed one of the strongest advocates of Sunday baseball among the Episcopal ministers of this state. He withstood the remonstrances of bishops, ministers and laymen who objected strenously to his position on this matter.

Because he did not believe that human nature could be reformed by law, he opposed prohibition on this ground. He taught that government could not make its subjects honest by legislation or the administration of law. This drew fire from many quarters, but it did not deter him from proclaiming his convictions upon many public occasion.

Lauds Philanthropy of New York Negro

Editor Boston American:

Why do not the papers make more out of what John W. Underhill, a Negro philanthropist, of New York, has done under the terms of his will?

He amassed a fortune of $100,000 from the pennies of school children in his town who patronized his little store. This sum of money he has now left for special equipment in the school gymnasium and for the upkeep of the town park.

We are apt to play up the shortcomings of the Negro. Here is an opportunity to sound the praise of their humanity. I hope that you will publish this as I have made it short.

HENRY T. BILSON.

Wrangle Cost Aimee Chance to Visit Hub

Editor Boston American:

That knock out blow of Aimee Semple McPherson, evangelist, will be heard around the world. There is one thing about it. It was misplaced. It should not have landed on mother's nose, but on the forked nose of Satan.

She has already in her preaching given his satanic majesty some good biffs. I heard her once in her Temple give this personage one of the best lickings that ever could be swung by human knowledge. It was a sledge hammer knock. At first, it began like the light brigade in history, and then was transferred into the heavy artillery.

It seemed as if the ceiling of the temple would be shattered till her winsome voice broke out with the clarion ring: "Fight the good fight of faith."

I relapsed in my seat and felt as flat as a pancake, but was more composed. I then sang with a vim the announced hymn: "The Son of God Goes Forth to War."

I sincerely hope that her mother's nose will be straightened and no mark of the injury will be visible. But Aimee will not be invited to speak in Boston this winter. It's all off.

HENRY I. SIMPSON.

Objects to Women in Smokers on "L"

Editor Boston American:

Why is it that women insist on riding in the smoking cars of the "L" road; these are specially set aside for men during the working hours. Well, we will answer that ourselves, outside of a few that do not know at the time, but when they discover their mistake back out or change at the next station, the other kind are probably "planted" as a protest as "through freight" by the Moral Uplifters or the long-haired gentry to work up a new amendment covering tobacco in general, but I advise my fellow commuters when they plant beside you to smoke up and choke the life out of them, and the best part of it, they think we ought to get up and give them a seat, but they get it—not —as far as I am concerned.

We not only want to remember the Maine—but remember the 18th amendment and Andy Volstead as well. The same old gang are at it on another angle.

STRIKERS OUST 'RED' SUSPECTS

Bessemer City, N. C., Aug. 21 (AP)—Three men suspected by striking textile workers of being communists, were captured by strikers early today, two of them together, all of them roughly treated and then chased from town.

The men were said to be Albert Herder, organizer for the National Textile Workers Union; W. G. Binkley, of Winston Salem, communist candidate for congress in the fifth North Carolina District, and Walter Wilson of Asheville, southern representative of the American Civil Liberties Union.

According to Town Clerk Rhyne of Bessemer City, the trio came to Bessemer City prepared to speak and distribute literature.

KILLED WOMAN TO PAY FOR CAR

Carson City, Mich., Aug. 21 (AP)—State police and county officers today held the confession of William H. Davis, 25, that he killed his former employer, Mrs. Doris Loree, 59-year-old widow, after forcing her to write two checks for a total of $300. One of the checks—for $200—was cashed by him, Davis admitted. The other was found in his possession, the officers said, when he was arrested.

Davis confessed, officers said, that he was prompted to commit the crime by a debt of $82 due on his automobile, for which he was being pressed by a finance company.

The prisoner told officers, they said, that he shot Mrs. Loree to prevent her stopping payment on the checks.

Two Labor Leaders in Chicago Killed

Chicago, Aug. 21 (AP)—Bernard Ruberry, known to police as a mysterious power in the Chicago Journeyman Plumbers' Union, died today from bullet wounds suffered yesterday at the time his union superiod, Charles Mulcahy, was killed.

Mulcahy, nationally known labor figure and business agent of the plumbers' union, had gone with Ruberry to the site of the new Lane technical high school, ostensibly to call a strike because of the failure of a plumbing contracting company to discharge its superintendent, Charles Courchene, from the high school job.

HOOVER LEADER SEES REPEAL AS RECOURSE

Chicago, Aug. 21 (AP)—George M. Wickersham, chairman of President Hoover's commission on law observance and enforcement, told members of the American Bar Association that the general attitude of mind of the average American is not law abiding, but that the individuals must accept and abide by the restraints imposed by law.

"Otherwise," he said, "lawful government breaks down and we have anarchy. The remedy of those who object is to appeal to the same authority as that which enacts for remission or modification. There can be no individual right to elect what laws one will or will not obey."

AGAINST JONES LAW.

Mr. Wickersham said it was not unnatural that the attitude of the average citizen is not law-abiding.

"With 48 states, besides the Federal Congress, grinding out laws annually, or bi-annually, with statute laws already in existence filling some 3500 volumes of more than a million and a half pages . . . any general acceptance of statute law as imposing a moral obligation upon the citizens could hardly be expected," he said.

The law enforcement commission, he declared, is unanimously opposed to the theory of the Jones law which made all violations of the prohibition act, except for maintaining a nuisance and unlawful possession, punishable with five years' maximum imprisonment and $10,000 fines.

HITS POLITICAL "PULL"

"We thought it sunsound to make felonies of petty violations of this or other criminal laws," he said. "It confused the public mind regarding offenses by blurring the distinction between serious crimes and minor breaches of statute law."

Perhaps the most pregnant source of failures in the system of criminal justice, Mr. Wickersham said, is the use of political influence, "not only in the selection of prosecutors, court officials and judges, but in the performance of their duties."

New Move to Reunite Carol and Helene

Belgrade, Jugoslavia, Aug. 21 (US)—King Alexander has thrown the influence of the Jugoslavian court into the royal family struggle of Rumania, it was learned today, in hopes of bringing about a reconciliation of King Carol II and Queen Helene, Rumania's parted sovereigns. Carol has given no indication other than wishing a reunion with his former wife, it was stated.

3 SHOCKED BY SHORT CIRCUIT

Worcester, Aug. 21—Three men were severely shocked and burned today when a portable conveyer they were pushing across the F. E. Powers coal yard in Southgate st. became charged with electricity.

Five hundred and fifty volts passed through the three men, locking them to the conveyor, until someone pulled a switch, releasing them.

The injured, taken to City Hospital are George Shallor, 26, of 87 Pasadena parkway, Henry Casteil, 38, of Cherry Valley, and Louis Belanger, 41, of West Auburn.

The conveyor is a big metal machine equipped with a motor and an endless chain of buckets, used to load coal from pockets into trucks. The motor apparently became short-circuited.

Washington, Ct., Aug. 21 (AP)—John Chapin Brinsmade, 78, for 43 years master of Gunnery school here and a veteran legislator, died suddenly today following a heart attack.

5c Fare in Local Fare Zones

Effective September First

In an effort to increase riding, the Public Trustees of the Boston Elevated Railway, have authorized, for a trial period of thirty days from September first, a reduction of from six and one-quarter cents to five cents in the fare in local fare zones without transfers.

During the calendar year ending December 31, 1929, there were 56,272,366 passengers carried at the local rate of fare, which represented almost 16 per cent of the total number of revenue passengers carried that year. There are 120 routes over which the local rate of fare is in effect.

The Public Trustees earnestly desire to increase riding in local fare zones, and to that end offer a fare of five cents for such rides. It is hoped that this change will receive the co-operation of the public and that riding will be increased.

You will save 20% on Local Rides

DAILY ANTIQUE

No. 176

This is an English silver candlestick, 10 inches in height with a five-inch scalloped, circular base, weighing two pounds, 11½ ounces. It is the property of John Anderson Fitzgerald, 77 School st., Everett. It has been traced back to the year 1444 and was the property of Margaret of Angue, having been given to her at her marriage to Henry VI of England. This has been verified by the embossed designs of a large rose, denoting the sovereignty of England, with a smaller design of the daisy pattern that belonged to Margaret, the Angueline princess. The stick has five hall marks on its base and has been handed down through the Earls of Desmond, of whom Fitzgerald is a descendant, and was brought to this country after the death in England of Lord Edward Fitzgerald of London, father of the present owner. The candlestick was nearly 50 years old when Columbus discovered America.

Boston Evening American is publishing daily photographs of interesting antiques. Owners of antiques of Colonial or early American origin or of historic association are invited to forward photographs and records for publication. If a photograph is not available, the American will send a cameraman to photograph the antique, providing the owner lives in Greater Boston. All Available Data on Dry Law for Clubwomen

By NANCY BREWSTER

Clubwomen are out to get more accurate information on the prohibition question, now that the need for such material has been sounded by Mrs. John C. Urquhart, chairman of the division of law enforcement in the General Federation of Women's Clubs.

As the chairman of the state committee, Mrs. Robert J. Culbert of Roxbury will see to it that Bay State clubwomen are supplied with such accurate information during the coming season.

Mrs. Urquhart says the duty rests upon every club woman in the country to convince the public of the value of prohibition, which sense of duty, she adds, is increasing.

She continues:

"Whether in the home, in social groups, or in public gatherings we should be ready to give a reason for the hope that is within us for a sober America, through a truthful and convincing answer to all objectors.

"Let us KNOW the TRUTH ourselves and by telling it to others help America to rid herself of one of the most deadly enemies the world has ever known—alcohol.

"The real purpose to free humanity is bigger than all of the poor and spurious objections that could ever be marshalled against the law. Let us review our history."

Many 4th District Leaders Will Serve for Another Term

Not many changes among the presidents of the clubs in the fourth district have taken place this season, although the fourth district director of the Massachusetts State Federation of Women's Clubs is to be a new one. You remember I wrote of the resignation of Mrs. Thomas J. Rees as fourth district director. As yet I do not know her successor.

However, new presidents of fourth district clubs are these: Mrs. Eugene L. Webber, Brookline Morning Club; Mrs. Edward C. Robinson, Brookline Friday Club; Mrs. Roy H. Gaskill, Clifton Literary Club; Mrs. Arthur E. Benson, Dorchester Social Club of Women; Mrs. Maurice C. Luce, Dorchester Woman's Club; Miss Mary L. Keith, East Bridgewater Woman's Club; Miss Carrie M. Leonard, Outlook Club of Easton; Mrs. Frederick J. Soule, De Normandie Women's Club of Roxbury; Mrs. Edith A. Beale, Roxbury Ladies' Club; Mrs. Ethel Rogers Limbach, Roxbury Ladies' Unity Club; Mrs. Walter Brennan, Mothers' and Homemakers' Club; Miss Mary E. Hunneman, Roxbury Women in Council.

Bombay Clubwomen Are Admitted to General Federation

The American Woman's Club of Bombay, India has been voted into the General Federation of Women's Clubs with hearty approval and endorsement. While it is the youngest member, it is considered a most important group with two declared objects—development along educational lines and promotion of social welfare.

An application has been received by the General Federation from the Woman's Club of Rio de Janeiro and it will be admitted as soon as it has been in existence long enough to conform to the by-laws of the General Federation.

Ousamequin Club to Have Annual Guest Night October 15

At a meeting of the executive board of the Ousamequin Club of Bridgewater held at the home of the president, Mrs. Harold D. Hunt, it was announced that annual guest night this year will be held Wednesday, October 15, in the Horace Mann auditorium.

The board is to meet again next month to complete all the details of the club's calendar. The guest night program is to include musical entertainment, it is expected.

'Sunday Night Frocks' Have Chic

By ANN ARDEN

Model from F. P. O'Connor Co.

OF COURSE you know why it is that informal dresses which contrive to appear quite formal are called "Sunday Night Frocks." Simply because they are the perfect answer to the clothes question "What shall I wear to the Sunday night concert, or the Sunday night supper with friends?" Occasions, you'll agree, which while quite informal seem to demand that one should dress up for them a bit. And, of course, the "Sunday Night Frock" is the smart thing to wear regardless of the night of the week on which such affairs occur.

* * *

THE "SUNDAY Night Frock" as such, which enjoyed an overwhelming success after its introduction last winter, promises to add to its fashion prestige this year if the new models are a criterion. Such smart sheer weaves as metallic chiffon (distinguished from the crepy chiffons we have had with us for so long) and marquisette contribute to the feminine grace of these frocks which feature draperies, bow trimmings, flared skirts, bolero, and sleeves that are sometimes long, sometimes short, and at other times elbow length.

* * *

IT HAS been a question whether the Sunday night or restaurant dress would bring any new fabrics for its use this fall. Heavy georgette is the choice of several Paris couturiers for this very useful and graceful style. It seems a natural development in the mode, for the heavy clinging weight and the semi-sheer quality of the cloth make it a happy medium for the lines of the formal afternoon or informal evening ensemble.

* * *

THE STRIKING dinner gown pictured is of georgette in black and white. The body section of black is set on in points over deep circular skirt and sleeve ruffles of white, the belt is of black, with buckle of brilliants. The round neck is outlined in yoke of fine white net. The necklace and bracelet are of black enamel and marcasite. The black bag, embroidered in seed pearls, with pearl tassel and silver chain completes the black and white scheme.

ANN ARDEN will answer questions concerning clothes, social customs or fashions generally. Address your questions to the Boston Evening American or the Boston Sunday Advertiser or to Station WHDH.

Helping Hand Group Cares for 115 Girls at Alfred, Me., Camp

One hundred and fifteen girls, ranging in ages from 6 to 16, some from the community, others of the Home for Jewish Children, Canterbury st., Dorchester, are spending this month at the Ladies' Helping Hand Auxiliary's Camp Emoh at Alfred, Me.

The auxiliary supports and maintains the Jewish Home, and what with the recent acquisition of the Maine summer place, are able to afford extra warm weather advantages to those young boys and girls they seek to assist.

A striking feature of the camp routine is its strict adherence to dietary laws, thereby perpetuating traditional Judaism and Hebraic customs in the hearts and mind of the Jewish youth.

Mrs. Samuel Altman, president of the auxiliary, contributes annually a prize presented to the best all round girl at camp. Competition for this coveted cup is always keen.

Members of the auxiliary very often visit Camp Emoh and among the recent guests, in addition to Mrs. Altman, there were Mrs. Colman Levin, Mrs. Minnie Nollman, Mrs. David Stern, Mrs. Louis Isguc, Mrs. S. H. Rubin, Mrs. Emil Friedman and Mrs. Anna G. Altshuler.

Tercentenary Pilgrimages—No. 63

BRIMSTONE CORNER, BOSTON

One of the best known spots in Boston is located at Tremont and Park sts., opposite Boston Common. Through the centuries it has become known as "Brimstone Corner."

The origin of the name has been attributed to the fiery speeches and fervid preaching within the church which stands upon the corner; perhaps the real reason for the name was the fact that brimstone actually was stored in the building during the War of 1812. It was used in making gunpowder.

Park Street Church is closely associated with local history. It was raised immediately after the granary was removed in 1809.

SOLD FOR $8366

The granary stood on a lot measuring 118 feet on Park st., and it was sold by the town agents for $8366 to Maj.-Gen. Henry Jackson. He had large real estate holdings in Boston.

The church was designed by Peter Banner, an English architect. Solomon Willard, the architect of Bunker Hill Monument helped with the steeple. Face bricks were used in the masonwork.

Park Street Church cost over $70,000. Dr. Edward D. Griffin preached the sermon at its dedication and was the first pastor.

In this edifice were founded, the Prison Reform Society, the American Temperance Society, and the American Education Society. The Handel and Haydn Society were at home here. On the Fourth of July, 1832, "America" was sung in public for the first time by children in a celebration at the church.

The early names of Park st. were, in 1708, Sentry and Century st. Tremont st. was called Common st. Park st. at one time was called Park pl. It was just a narrow lane, not accepted as a street, and the locality not very desirable.

BUSY SECTION

Tremont and Park sts., presented a lively spectacle on election days in the early 19th century. Push carts and stands lined the old wooden fence along the Common. They were filled with all kinds of refreshments, the vendors offering lobsters, oysters, seedcakes, doughnuts, beans, brown bread, spruce beer and other infinite varieties of foodstuffs.

This corner, today, is the rendezvous for the pigeons and squirrels which Boston Common shelters, and who have become famous for their tame feeding. Also it is the favorite meeting-place of local folk and a center point for strangers among the crooked streets of the "Hub."

In 1809 the surroundings of "Brimstone Corner" were that of a market town. Cows pastured on the Common; the Town Crier spread the news; two houses only were over one story on Tremont st., no curbstones, no gutters; gardens with old-fashioned flowers, and beautiful trees; a few churches among the residences in what is now the populous business section of this modern era.

The surroundings have changed, but Park st., the heart of Boston has upon its corner, a church, which has withstood the onset of time and progress nobly, a symbol of steadfastness from the past upon which the future may build securely.

Woman Seeks $40,000 of John C. B. Woods Estate

Providence, R. I., Aug. 21 (AP)—A $40,000 claim was filed today against the estate of John Carter Brown Woods, by Mrs. Lillian I. Glenn, who said she was secretary to the bachelor millionaire attorney. The claim is regarded as first step toward a suit in superior court.

It is based upon an alleged contract of Mr. Woods to pay her $40,000 after his death "in consideration of the promise and undertaking of this claimant to remain in the employ of said J. C. B. Woods until he died," according to the papers.

CLERK BLOCKS PLAN TO REWED

Worcester, Aug. 21—An attempt by a Burlington couple who were divorced in 1908 to remarry, was blocked today by City Clerk Malcolm C. Midgley on the ground that neither is a resident of the city.

They are Carol H. Woolfolk, 53, and his former wife, Catherine H. Woolfolk, both of Burlington, where Woolfolk is employed in the branch postoffice.

In marriage intentions filed a few days ago Woolfolk gave an address at 17 Holmes st.

This was found to have been intended for 17 Home st., but Clerk Midgley discovered that Woolfolk was only a visitor at that address.

Boston a Leader in U. S. Building Boost

Washington, Aug. 21 (AP)—A total indicated expenditure of $161,067,963 in building operations during July in the Nation's principal cities—an increase of 2.4 per cent over the previous month—was reported today by the Bureau of Labor statistics.

A decrease of 2.2 per cent in residential building in the 288 cities of over 25,000 population included in the survey, the bureau reported, was offset by an increase of 5.1 per cent in non-residential construction.

New Orleans, with a contract for a government marine hospital to cost $1,178,000, Jersey City, with a public utility building to cost $1,300,0000, and Boston, with an office building to cost $1,200,000, were among the leaders.

A survey of the cost of living in Waltham will be launched September 1, under the direction of John H. Pembroke of the State Department of Labor and Industry, division of necessaries of life.

DEMAND END OF ALL DRY LAWS

Springfield, Ill., Aug. 21 (AP)—James Hamilton Lewis, Democratic candidate for the Senate, will seek election on a platform favoring repeal of all prohibition legislation.

The Democratic State convention adopted, without a dissenting vote, an anti-dry plank calling for unqualified repeal of the 18th amendment and immediate repeal of the Volstead act, the Jones law and the Illinois search and seizure act.

"And we shall," the platform read, "under no circumstances favor any legislation in Illinois that will restore the open saloon."

Pending repeal of the 18th amendment, the platform calls for immediate repeal of the Volstead act and the substitution of an act permitting the manufacture, sale and transportation of light wines and beer.

France Is Building Largest of Liners

Paris, Aug. 21 (INS)—France's largest ocean liner, costing nearly $28,000,000, will be in service by 1934, according to terms of a contract concluded today. The port facilities of Havre have been enlarged to permit building of the vessel, which will amount to between 50,000 and 60,000 tons.

Harvard Boys Surpass Fathers in Physique

By HOWARD W. BLAKESLEE
Associated Press Science Editor

The finding is made at Peabody Museum by Gordon T. Bowles, based on records of Hemenway Gymnasium and college physical examination records.

They are all the more striking because the fathers were more than a year older on the average than the sons who physically outclassed them. The comparison included 1461 couples, nearly 3,000 men.

The height of these same boys was 5 feet 10 inches. Their dads when a year older had averaged 5 feet 8 6-10 inches.

WHITE SOX HERE FOR 4-GAME SERIES

MR. BOSTON
JACK CONWAY

"Eddie Mack's experiment of using lady ushers at his Argonne A. A. shows is working out very well," said Mr. Boston. "Some 85 girls stormed the office of the Argonne A. A. seeking jobs.

"The Sergeant picked out a cluster of the best looking dolls, gathered them around his desk and posed for the photographers.

"Mack has decided that girls 26 years of age make the best ushers. He figures they are still young enough to be attractive and old enough to have common sense.

Jack Conway

"You may expect Mack to go into a huddle with some costume designer for, of course, he must devise a suitable uniform for his fair ushers.

"There are some iron-hearted individuals around the boxing game who maintain that Mack will have more trouble handling his lady ushers than he does in making his main bouts. I do not believe, however, that even the ladies have as much temperament as the headliners of the ring.

"You may now expect to read about some of our star boxers and Argonne A. A. ushers teaming up for one of those matrimonial battles.

James J. Braddock to Battle for Garden

"I hear that James J. Braddock has signed with the Boston Garden to meet the winner of the 10-round bout between Henry Lamar and Marty Gallagher, which will be staged at Braves Field on next Tuesday night.

"Braddock licked Joe Monte at Fenway Park, and then dropped a decision to Babe Hunt at the Wigwam.

"Lamar and Gallagher have each consented to a meeting with Braddock in the event they get the duke in the Wigwam skirmish.

Suarez Is Rated High by Boxing Experts

"It is seldom that a young boxer has scored such an impressive victory as Justo Suarez did when he knocked out Bruce Flowers in six rounds in a New York ring. Hype Igoe, who knows his fighters, says Suarez is the greatest little man he has seen in action since the days of Kid Lavigne. Hype does not get excited about every new boxer who happens to score a knockout, and so his size up of the youthful Argentine lightweight must receive serious consideration.

"Suarez is the most popular fighter ever to come from the Argentine. Blow by blow stories of all of his American bouts have been sent by radio to South America.

"Suarez may come to Boston as an opponent for Andy Callahan. I understand the Lawrence warrior has already consented to a meeting with the thumper from the Argentine.

Football Season Will Be With Us Soon

"In a few more weeks football will be with us again. Interest in the gridiron game is intense in all parts of the country. I have always felt that New England fans understand the game better than any other section of the country. This is because big games have been staged here for a good many years. Harvard, Yale, Dartmouth, Boston College, Tufts, Boston University, Williams, Amherst and the other New England colleges have been leaders in fostering the gridiron game.

"The football season is short and works up to a natural climax. This is why there is so much interest in this pastime.

"Baseball magnates would make more money than they do now if the season was shorter. The public tires of any sport when the season is dragged out over a long period."

GIANTS-CUBS IN CRUCIAL SERIES

Chicago, Aug. 21 (US)—Manhattan's magazine of high explosives will be unloaded at Wrigley Field today in the form of 20 young and efficient men, known collectively as the New York Giants.

And this human shipment of TNT may either be neutralized during the four days by Bruin bats and pitching, or else it may blow the champions right out of the National League lead, and race as well.

The situation in which the Cubs find themselves is relatively more important than it was a week back when they went into action against the Flatbush Fumblers of Brooklyn, regardless of the fact that the Bruins were in a virtual tie with the Dodgers at that time and they are three games out ahead now.

The Giants are seen as the Cubs' only real rival for the 1930 flag by most observers and their fierce drive of the past four weeks would seem to substantiate that belief.

More than 35,000 fans are expected to watch the important series opener, which on past performances, may prove a duel of pitchers. Sheriff Blake, who trimmed Brooklyn, 3 to 2, in the 11 inning opener of last week's series with the Fumblers, was McCarthy's choice to face the Manhattan maulers.

Race for Lipton Cup at Winthrop

More than 150 yachts in various classes will sail in the combined Winthrop Yacht Clubs' three-day regatta, held on Saturday, Sunday and Monday, August 30 and 31 and September 1, as a part of the Winthrop tercentenary celebration.

The race meeting is an annual affair, but this year it includes several added points of interest, notably the addition of the Sir Thomas Lipton trophy. The world-renowned yachtsman, recently arrived in this country with his fifth challenger for the America's cup, has offered this new prize to the yacht, in any class race with six starters or more, which compiles the greatest number of points during the years 1930, 1931 and 1932.

All yacht clubs on Massachusetts bay have been invited to compete during the three days. In addition to the sail races there will be 40 outboard motor engagements and eight runabout cruisers. There will be $400 in cash prizes for the outboard winners.

Singer Signs to Box McLarnin-Canzoneri

New York, Aug. 21 (AP)—Evidently intent on capitalizing on his recently won lightweight boxing title, Al Singer, yesterday signed with Madison Square Garden for two bouts within two months of each other.

He was matched with Jimmy McLarnin for a non-titular bout at Yankee Stadium Sept. 11 and with Tony Canzoneri, former featherweight king, for a title bout in the Garden arena Nov. 14.

Hub Golfer Leads at East Northfield

East Northfield, Aug. 21—The final of the Northfield Hotel handicap golf tournament was completed yesterday, the best 36-hole medal score of the tournament being being made by Ralph Raymond of Boston. His name will be added to those already on the permanent cup.

Portland and Roslindale Win

BOSTON TWILIGHT LEAGUE

	W.	L.		W.	L.
Malden	14	6	Portland	9	9
Dorchester	11	8	St. John	8	12
Roslindale	10	8	Quincy	1	16

Game tonight—Roslindale at Malden.

Roslindale shut out the league-leading Malden team, 5 to 0, and Portland swamped Quincy in a doubleheader, 13 to 0 and 11 to 1, at Portland in the Boston Twilight League games yesterday. Duke Sedgwick, former New England League star, held Malden to four hits in the game at Roslindale. Herb Rauding hit two doubles and Hank Bosse hammered out a double and two singles for Roslindale.

Andy Mullaney pitched Portland to a shutout over Quincy in the first game, and Johnny Fallon, Boston College high school star, almost duplicated the performance in the second game.

Wetmore's Powell Wins Feature Race

Hudson Falls, N. Y., Aug. 21—Powell, fast 3-year-old from the stables of V. C. B. Wetmore at Boston, Mass., flashed around the track here to take three straight heats in the 3-year-old trot, feature of the second day of the Green Mountain circuit harness meeting. Powell was driven by C. C. Mosher of Greenfield, Mass., whose Nita the Great, driven by himself, captured the 2:20 trot.

Preston Sails to Defend his Trophy

Southampton, England, Aug. 21—K. Preston, well-known British yachtsman, sailed on the Majestic for New York to defend the British-American cup for six-meter yachts with his boat Prudence. Three other English boats, the Felma, owned by F. A. Richards; E. Parker's Fintra and Stewart Black's Coral, also will aid in the defense of the cup over the 16-mile course in a series of seven races.

By BILL GRIMES

Worcester, Aug. 21—Fourteen clubs are represented in the championship flight of the annual Worcester Country Club invitation, medal and match play tournament, the opening rounds of which are being played this morning.

Wollaston and Green Hill are the only clubs with double representation, for Fred Thayer and Charlie Crowley qualified from the Monclair club and Wilfred Ogg, son of the local professional and Carl Nettelbladt, are the two Green Hill standard bearers.

Bill Grimes

One of the biggest surprises of the qualifying round was the failure of the home players to play to their handicaps. Of the many Worcester Country Club entries who participated in the opening round yesterday, Ben Ayers, the club champion, was the only qualifier.

Hard Struggles Predicted in Today's Matches

Although previous Worcester invitations have offered faster championship flights, predictions favor some hard struggles today. There are two matches which are of great interest to the local followers, for they are between four players of local note.

Wilfred Ogg, who was the unsuccessful finalist in the recent Massachusetts junior championship, is pitted against W. C. Hoxie of Stoney Brae. Young Ogg is a very likely looking golfer. In action he is almost an exact replica of Horton Smith. He is only 17 years of age and somewhat lacking in tournament experience, but he is going to be a real assignment for any opponent in his flight.

Ben Ayers, who is a scratch man here and carries a four handicap in the State, is opposing R. P. Clemons, Bear Hill.

The Heart of the Commonwealth has two more representatives in the championship flight, Jack Winslow, who is now playing for Marlboro and Jack Reidy, runner up in the junior championship two years ago at Unicorn. Winslow, who turned in a 77 yesterday is playing Bill Hoxie from Stoney Brae, while Reidy has for his opponent, Dick Barrett, Thorny Lea, a former Dartmouth captain.

Similarity of Courses Big Help to Wood

Two neighbors, Leonard Wood, Winchester and R. P. Clemons, Bear Hill, are in the upper bracket of the lower half of the draw. Wood should be a hard man to beat here for this course, he is, as regards second shots, very much similar to Winchester. Although practically a stranger to Worcester yesterday, Wood was around in 77 strokes and unquestionably he will be better from now on.

Earl Sande to Fly to Springfield

Saratoga, N. Y., Aug. 21 (US)—Earl Sande, the famous jockey, is going to take the air. Sande will fly to Springfield, O., tomorrow, where he will ride Reveille Boy in the Governor's Cup the next afternoon at the Springfield Fair.

Reveille Boy is owned by J. A. Best, of Memphis, and has the American Derby to his credit. Governor Louis L. Emerson, of Ohio, will present the winner with a gold trophy.

Mickey Walker Wins Easily Over Forgione

FRANK SHIELDS ELIMINATED

Newport, R. I., Aug. 31 (AP)—Wilmer Allison, Davis cup doubles player from Texas, today led the advance into the semi-final round of the Newport Casino invitation tennis tournament by coming from behind to defeat Frank X. Shields of South Orange, N. J., 6—8, 6—2, 6—4, 6—4.

Shields, who performed an "iron man" feat by winning three hard matches during a single afternoon, fell before the international player chiefly because he was unable to maintain his service after his second set slump. The Jersey player's service was cracked seven timesin the last three sets.

Lott Defeats Sydney Wood

George M. Lott of Chicago, Davis Cup singles player, had a gruelling five set battle with Sydney Woood before he gained the second last round by topping the steady New Yorker 6—4, 7—5, 4—6, 4—6, 6—4. Wood was seized with his habitual leg cramp at the start of the final set and this had much to do with his defeat.

QUARTER FINALS

Wilmer Allison, Austin, Tex., defeated Frank X. Shields, South Orange, N. J., 6—8, 6—2, 6—4, 6—4.

George M. Lott, Jr., Chicago, defeated Sydney Wood, New York, 6—4, 7—5, 4—6, 6—4.

Offer Shires $50,000 to Quit Diamond for Ring

Chicago, Aug. 21 (NIS)—C. Arthur (Whataman) Shires, at present with the Washington Senators, has been offered a guarantee of $50,000 if he will forsake baseball for the boxing ring, it was reported here today.

The offer is said to have come from Mique Malloy, Chicago fight promoter. The pugnacious first baseman enjoyed a brief but spectacular ring career last winter which was cut short on the advice of Commissioner K. M. Landis.

Cricket Revival at Swampscott

Cricket will stage a comeback in Swampscott Saturday when the Greater Lynn team will play the Arlington Mills team of Lawrence at Phillips Park, Swampscott.

It is 20 years since cricket has been played in Greater Lynn. Several experienced players are with Greater Lynn, including Phil Marks, Ed Lambert, Bob Whitfield of the G. E. soccer team; Fred Coulthurst, Sid Bardgett, George Wilson, John Wall, Bill Alcock, Dick Fox, Joe Wood and Bill Pinkerton of the United Shoe team; Bill Walton of Cliftondale and George Ormsby of Montreal.

Maddens Now Lead in Dorchester Twi

The Madden Club took undisputed possession of first place in the Dorchester Twilight League by defeating the Dorchester A. A., 10 to 8, at Town field last night. The defeat also pushed the losers a rung lower in the ladder.

A season's record was established when the two teams made 15 errors. Corrigan led the Madden attack while O'Connell hit a home run and a single for Dorchester. Sanford's fielding stood out.

Vacca Floors Graham but Loses Decision

Utica, N. Y., Aug. 21—Getting up from an eight count knockdown in the first round, Busby Graham, Utica featherweight contender, won the verdict over Johnny Vacca, Boston, in 10 rounds here last night. Graham scored knockdowns in the fifth and seventh rounds.

SHAMROCK DUE IN NEWPORT

Newport, R. I., Aug. 21 (INS)—Skippers and crew of the four America's Cup yachts, Weetamoe, Enterprise, Yankee and Whirlwind, will catch their first glimpse of Sir Thomas Lipton's fifth Shamrock today when the big green challenger sails into this port to establish her base here.

She is due late this afternoon from New London, where she had her racing rig installed after her long voyage across the ocean.

Tomorrow the Irish cup hunter will get her first real workout over the actual cup course where next month's historic battle will be staged. Close to her will be the four potential defenders engaged in their second elimination trial.

Shamrock V will get a noisy welcome when she sails proudly into Brenton's Cove. The picturesque little harbor is chock-block with all kinds of yachts, here to witness the American eliminations, and they are all set to give the Lipton tea clipper a hearty greeting.

Escorting Shamrock will be Sir Thomas Lipton's steam yacht Erin and the huge houseboat Killarney, on which her crew lives. Bright green buoys have been anchored in the cove for this flotilla.

Urges Support of Grid Stars

Macon, Ga., Aug. 21 (AP)—Brown Nicholson, president of the Macon Junior Chamber of Commerce, told the Lions' Club at a meeting here that "money is necessary to support good athletic teams, and unless we can pay the expenses of football players at Mercer they will keep going to Carnegie and Tech."

Mercer is a Baptist institution and a member of the Southern Intercollegiate Athletic Association. Georgia and Georgia Tech are members of the Southern Conference. Nicholson added:

"There's no use beating around the bush. If we don't pay the expenses of athletes at Mercer they'll go somewhere else.

"We've got a good bunch lined up this Fall, but we've got to pay their expenses. Think what $50,000 per game would mean turned loose in Macon during the Fall—and that's what would happen if Mercer had a real football team."

Rain Halts Australia, England Cricket Play

London, Aug. 21 (AP)—Play in the cricket test match between England and Australia could not proceed today because of heavy rain. The match, which is for the "Ashes," Anglo-Australian cricket championship symbol, is being played to a finish and will be resumed when weather conditions permit.

Dotty Weisel Faces Betty Nuthall at Forest Hills

Forest Hills, N. Y., Aug. 21 (INS)—A wee slip of a girl, unknown outside her native Golden State two months ago, steps out on the No. 1 Stadium court at Forest Hills this afternoon to do battle with the mighty Betty Nuthall in the quarter-final round of the women's national tennis championships.

And although she is unranked and unseeded, this newest of coast phenoms, Dotty Weisel, is conceded a fighting chance of upsetting the British standard-bearer.

Miss Weisel's victory over Sarah Palfrey, Wightman Cup star, and fourth ranking player of the country, came as a distinct shock to the spectators who had been counting on the 17-year-old Brookline girl's meeting Betty Nuthall and who were speculating in advance on "Sally's" chances against the English star.

In the topmost bracket, Midge Morrill encounters five-foot Ethel Burkhardt. The Baroness Levi, always an interesting performer, will tackle her second straight ranking opponent when she opposes Penelope Anderson of Richmond, Va., No. 12 in the national listing.

Mrs. Lawrence Harper has a "set-up" in Mary Greef. Mrs. Harper has never lost to the girl who ranks only one place beneath her, and there's no reason to believe she will change her tactics today.

Manchester Draws Legion Baseball Bye

Charlottesville, Va., Aug. 21—Bridgeport, Ct., and Gastonia, N. C., meet today in the opening game of the Eastern semifinals of the American Legion national championship baseball tournament.

The second game will be between the boy nines from Baltimore and Cincinnati.

Tampa, Fla., and Manchester, N. H., drew byes for the first day's play and will meet Friday.

$30,800 Paid for Six of Cowdin's Ponies

New York, Aug. 21 (AP)—At an auction of polo ponies owned by J. Cheever Cowdin, well known poloist, Citroen, an Argentine-bred gelding, brought [illegible] purchaser was J. A. Schnell, a prominent sportsman and polo player of Buffalo. Six horses were disposed of by Mr. Cowdin, fetching a total of $30,800.

Al Simmons to Marry in Fall

Announcement of the approaching wedding was made by Miss Kuhn's parents, Mr. and Mrs. John F. Kuhn, at a dinner dance tonight. The marriage will not take place until after this year's world series, it was said.

Oklahoma 2d Wins Star Class Opener

Southport, Ct., Aug. 21—In an exciting finish, Oklahoma 2nd, skippered by Joseph F. Watkins of the Pequot Yacht Club, under whose auspices the races are being sailed won the first race of the series for the Atlantic coast championship of the International Star class by three seconds, thereby gaining 10 points in the championship contest. In second place was Jessica of the Peconic and Gardner Bay's fleet, skippered by David Roberts.

Almost as exciting was the second of the open races which returned Colleen 2nd, owned by F. T. Bedford of the Pequot Club, a winner by six seconds over Howard McMichael's Grey Fox.

Braves Suspend Peery

Hazleton, Pa., Aug. 21—Pitcher George Peery of the Boston Braves, ordered to report to the Hazleton Mountaineers of the N. Y.-Penn. league from the San Antonio, Tex., club, has refused to report and has drawn a suspension from the owners of the Braves.

RED SOX HAVE CHANCE TO GET OUT OF CELLAR

By JOE CASHMAN

Chicago's White Sox, the one and only club which the Red Sox have been able to beat consistently this season, bring the final Western invasion of the Fens to a close in a four-game series starting this afternoon.

Against no other team in the circuit have the Wagners come even close to breaking even to date, but they won the very first series of the year against their seventh-place enemy from the Windy City and have held the upper hand ever since.

Joe Cashman

Fifteen times have the rival Sox clashed thus far and ten times have the locals finished in front, which means that one win in the coming engagement will insure the Fenway flock of an even break with the Bushmen for the season with and victories will insure it of the edge.

Despite their superiority over the visitors in the past, however, the Wagners will have to play much better ball than they did against the Indians to gain the honors in the series starting this p. m.

Manager Donie Bush has made many changes in his team since it was last here and according to reports from other cities, the White Sox are much stronger than ever before this season.

Chalmers Cissell, the $100,000 beauty, who was the regular shortstop of the club last year and was shifted to second base by Bush at the start of this campaign, is now at third in place of Willie Kamm.

Reputations Mean Nothing to White Sox Pilot

Kamm, rated as one of the best hot corner guardians in baseball for the past few years, was the last player on the team expected to lose his berth because of his reputation, but when he fell into a slump in mid-season Bush lost no time in benching him.

Reputations mean nothing to the peppery Chisox pilot. He kept the great Hazen "Kiki" Cuyler out of a World Series in Pittsburgh because the young man didn't meet with his approval, so a little thing like benching Kamm didn't bother him a bit.

Bush also has a new face in each of the other infield positions.

At first is Johnny Watwood, who was not so hot either as a hitter or as a fielder in the outfield early in the season, but has developed into quite a slugger and fine fielder since he was pressed into service at the initial sack when Bud Clancy was injured.

A high-priced rookie from the American Association named Gregory Mulleavy, is at short. The young star was secured just after the White Sox were last in the Hub.

Carl Reynolds, one of the game's best outfielders; Sneed Jolley, a great slugger but poor fielder, who cost Owner Charlie Comiskey plenty of money last winter, and "Red" Barnes, secured from Washington early in the season, are still patrolling the garden.

Better Pitching Has Helped Chicago Team

Most of the enemy's improvement, though, has been due more to better pitching than anything else.

Ted Lyons, than whom there are few, if any, better, was the club's only winning pitcher during the early months of the race.

He is still winning regularly and so are a few of his mound mates.

Cecil Caraway, long, lean Texan southpaw, has become one of the most feared pitchers in the circuit and Harold McKain is no cinch to beat.

The White Sox will play single games at the Fens today, tomorrow and Saturday and bring the series to a close in a single game at Braves Field on Sunday.

The Sox will then have three days off before tackling the world's champion Athletics.

Athletes Arriving in Pittsburgh for Meet

Pittsburgh, Aug. 21 (INS)—City became a mecca for track and field champions of the nation today, as contestants in the annual National A. A. U. championship games continued to stream into Pittsburgh hourly.

Junior events will open the three-day schedule tomorrow. The senior program is carded for Saturday with the relays and decathlon featuring the final day's program on Monday.

New Caddy Champ to Play in Hearst Junior Tourney

M'GRAIL IS NOW HEAVY FAVORITE

Harold McGrail, winner of the caddy championship at the Country Club this week, displayed such sound golf in copping the bag-toters' title, that he now looms as the likely winner of the first prize in the William Randolph Hearst Junior Golf Tournament to be held at Wollaston with the qualifying round next Monday morning at 9 o'clock.

The Country Club attache put together a 76 and 78 to capture the caddy crown and to send Phil Fahey, former champion, into the class of former caddy champions.

McGrail has finally clambered to the top in junior golfing ranks. For three years he has been hammering away at the caddy throne but never landed there until this past tournament. A year ago he was runner-up.

Now that McGrail is up on top and has found how to win championships he'll be a very dangerous entry in the Hearst.

First Ten in Caddy Championship Entered

The first ten finishers in the Caddy tournament, with the exception of Mario Zobbi, who landed in fifth place, have entered the Hearst tournament at Wollaston and it may be a duplicate of the caddy fight. John Quinn, Joe Looney, Charley Pickering, Jimmy Flattery, Eddie and Leo Martin, John Kelley and Joe Carew have all sent their names in to battle on the bunkered Wollaston course. So, too, has Peter Bukin who led the field in the early stages with a smart 78 but landed in the 80's in the afternoon round and failed to get in the money.

The leaders in the junior golf tournament at Oakley a short while ago are also due to start off with the large congregation at Wollaston on Monday morning. The junior titleholder, Wilfred Crossley, did not enter. But Bill Donnelly, former junior champion, Gerry Moore, Leon K. Emerson, Jimmy Gannon, Bobby Hunter and a host of others are ready for the call of "fore!"

Willie Ogg and Crossley are about the only noted golfers in the Hearst age limit who haven't sent in entry blanks. Champions and near champions are coming from other states in New England. Bobby Brown, who was runner-up in the Maine amateur, will come all the way from Portland to play in the Hearst and he'll be one of the favorites.

Starting Times to Be Announced Saturday

The entry list is the most brilliant that has ever been assembled in junior ranks in New England and no doubt will surpass any tournament of its kind the country over.

Bill Grimes, the Golf Editor of the Boston Evening American, is now working on the starting times for the qualifying round. These times will be published in the Boston Evening American on Saturday.

Not all the names of the Hearst entry list have been published. Many boys are inquiring as to whether or not they have been accepted. The complete list will be printed on Saturday. If your blank reached the office on time your name will be in the lists.

Horton Smith's Golf Lessons

Famous Young Missouri Professional Illustrates and Describes the Mechanics and Technique of Play

No. 13—TAKING PUTTER BACK

The principal thing to notice in the top picture is that Tommy Armour's club head has been taken back on a slight curve. That is natural. And it is important to heed what is intelligently natural.

In watching Armour putt, one gets the immediate impression that he aims like a rifleman. That is due, of course, to the fact that Tommy lost the sight of one eye in the World War. Sometimes I find myself shutting one eye when sighting a putt. I can assure you this method of aiming helps me on certain putts as much as it does the rifleman who shoots with only his "master eye" open.

Putting is an elusive art, but it will become less elusive if one studies and practices the methods of Armour and other masterly putters.

Another series by Horton Smith will appear on Saturday.

No. 14—FOLLOW-THROUGH CURBED

The ball (snapped in motion) has just been struck perfectly by Tommy Armour's putter. The chief point to note is that there is no exaggerated follow-through. That helps prevent much bad putting. It is difficult to curb the follow-through, but I would recommend that beginners and just ordinary players can better their game by doing so.

Bobby Jones and most of the professionals employ follow-through on putts, but to do this well requires concentration that even experts cannot achieve regularly.

It is noticeable in Photo No. 13 illustrating take-back that Armour's is curved slightly, but his short follow-through is straight. That detail is very important, as is the point that the blade continues at right angles to the direction of the putt to avoid hooking.

OVER THE PLATE

By JOE CASHMAN

The announcement that the Chicago White Sox have paid the largest sum ever given for a Southern League player for Luke Appling, shortstop of the Atlanta club, indicates that Manager Donie Bush isn't entirely satisfied with the work of Gregory Mulleavy, present Chisox shortfielder, for whom Owner Charlie Comiskey paid a large sum and gave two players about six weeks ago.

Appling is one of the many players President Quinn of the Red Sox looked over during his recent tour of the South. The local "prezy" wasn't impressed by the youngster; neither was Charlie Doyle, Chicago Cub scout, who failed to exercise an option he had on him.

We happen to know that Appling cost the White Sox $25,000 and one player. He was offered to every club in both leagues at those figures, which may or may not be a record price for a Southern League player, as reported.

Few owners have spent as much money in a vain effort to build a winning club as has Comiskey since the 1919 world's series scandal ruined his White Sox, one of the greatest clubs of all time.

He gave $110,000, the largest amount ever paid for a player, for Chalmers Cissell, tore $100,000 off his bank roll for Willie Kamm, who is now warming the bench and chipped in with $50,000 for Sneed Jolley.

All of which proves that money alone can't produce a championship ball club. A certain amount of luck is also required and that is something Comiskey has long lacked.

Rumors of Many Trades Fill Baseball Air

Trade rumors are filling the air these days. It is always thus when a baseball campaign is drawing to a close. Managers of lowly clubs threaten general house-cleanings involving stars as well as mediocre players.

Few of these pilots keep their word, but since their threats make interesting reading, they always gain plenty of publicity.

Frankie Frisch, Cardinal second-baseman, to the Dodgers.

Pitcher Jess Haines and Catcher Jimmy Wilson of the Cards to any club that is interested in them.

Art (What A Man) Shires, Senators' second-string first-sacker, to the Detroit Tigers.

Any or all of the St. Louis Browns and Chicago White Sox to any rival willing to talk business.

Check up at the start of next season and see how many of these proposed shifts have taken place, and we bet you will never believe a baseball manager or magnate again.

HAGEN SHOOTS 67 FOR NEW RECORD

Orion, Mich., Aug. 21 (US)—The qualifying round of the Western open golf championship, held at Indianwood Country Club, turned out to be a remote duel between Johnny Farrell of New York and the inevitable Walter Hagen of Detroit, with the field leadership at stake, and Hagen taking it.

There wasn't anything else at stake, for a field of some 135 that started, something like 118 qualified, which means that every starter, equipped with a set of clubs, and enough golf balls to last him for the eighteen holes, was reasonably certain of getting into the 72 hole championship proper, which begins today.

Farrell, off on his jaunt in the morning, came in with a 33-35—68 which looked so low, that no one but Charley Guest of Pontiac, was able to get within hailing distance of it, until Hagen came along, in the next to closing round of the afternoon.

Guest's 70 was a nice performance, but when Hagen, traveling in the company of Chick Evans, began a round in 3-3-3, a sizeable gallery that followed him knew Sir Walter was being himself, after all these months.

A shot which bounced off Marshall's skull at the 16th, plus a badly hooked second into the shade of the old apple tree at the long 18th, were the only indications that Hagen was having anything but a pleasant time of it on his way around.

Hagen's 67 Sets Course Record

He scattered apples off the tree and all but reached the green, rolling the next one up close enough to sink his putt for the par five that gave him 35 for the round, ant a medal score of 67, the course record.

His 67 and Farrell's 68 represented the proof that the qualifying round ran to form, inasmuch as most of the big timers didn't have to qualify. Besides Guest, who is capable of great golf on occasions, Al Watrous slipped round in 71, and most of the others had no trouble keeping their scores within striking distance of par figures.

The 118 who qualified will join up with 32 others today, and play 18-holes, as the actual championship gets under way.

It is expected that the dozen who failed to be inside the low 118 will give up golf. They should.

RITTER-WALKER RACE AT REVERE

Charley Ritter and Cecil Walker will offer one of the feature matches at the Revere Cycle track on Saturday night, when they engage in a special sprint series consisting of three one-mile heats.

Charley Ritter, who recently outsprinted Harris Horder, has put himself up with the leaders and a fast duel is expected when Ritter meets Walker.

The old champion, George Chapman, will be the sentimental favorite in the biggest race of the season, the 100 kilometre cycling Derby, which is the feature of Saturday night's program.

Chapman has always been a favorite with the fans. He was their idol in the heights of his best racing days and even now, when the strain of many battles is beginning to show, he's still the recipient of all the cheers of the fans.

Nothing would please the gathering more than to see Chapman win on Saturday night in the Derby. But he's facing a fast field in Keenan, Jaeger, Duelberg, Georgetti, Ilournier and Debaets.

Marksmen in Tie With Czech Team

Prague, Czechoslovakia, Aug. 21—The Fall River, Mass., soccer football team and Czechoslovakia played to a 2-to-2 tie, in a game opening a European tour for the American team.

The home team scored first after 20 minutes play, Puc getting the goal. This was the only score for the first half but at the beginning of the second half Puc scored again from a distance of 12 yards.

In the 34th minute, McNab shot the first goal for Fall River, followed in the next minute by a second goal for the Americans, the score knotting the count being registered by Stark.

2 Ex-Champs Lose N. H. Women's Golf

Dover, N. H., Aug. 21—Two ex-champions, Mrs. Joel F. Sheppard of this city and Mrs. Erion Neal of Rochester, lost by close margins to younger opponents in the New Hampshire women's golf championships yesterday. Mrs. Sheppard was beaten by "Baby Ann" Rollins of Dover, 1 up, while Mrs. Neal was beaten by Miss Helen Childs of Manchester, 2 and 1.

Former Champion Helen Coffey, the favorite for the championship, eliminated Mrs. H. D. Challis of Concord, 4 and 2, after the latter had played her even on the outward trip. The second favorite, Fayette Audette of Manchester, defeated Esther Connors of Nashua, 7 and 5.

DAMON RUNYON SAYS

Copyright, 1930, by Universal Service, Inc.

New York, Aug. 21—Whenever I come upon a pastime that seems to be arousing interest and enthusiasm in any considerable number of members of the body politic, yet leaves me cold, I do not condemn that pastime as boresome and of no account. I say to myself, say I:

"Well, there must be something in it that you've missed. Or maybe you are just dumb."

Now you take yacht racing. You take all of it you wish. You take 100 per cent of it, as far as I am personally concerned. Here is a pastime that leaves me quite seasick, indeed. And yet there must be something in it, because it interests many voters of high standing in the community so my failure to find it exciting merely proves that I muff the point somewhere.

Damon Runyon.

I refer, specifically, to yacht racing of an international character, such as the impending struggle for the America's cup between good old Sir Thomas Lipton's wave-eater, and the skiff that is to defend the aquatic glory of these partially United States of America. The challenger is now in American waters, and the trials to determine the defender are now taking place.

I have attended these trials in the past, and if the broad bosom of the Atlantic Ocean is no smoother off Newport than it is off Sandy Hook, where they used to take place, I will cheerfully resign my place in the press boat to some hardier mariner.

HOPE FOR BREEZE

I fear my lack of appreciation of yacht racing is due to my early environment and upbringing. Back in my old home town out west, we had no bodies of water much larger than any citizen could easily consume as chasers in an ordinary evening's drinking. Naturally, we had no yacht racing. There would have been no future for a yacht racer in my old home town.

I never brought the matter up, but I am sure that the citizens of my old home town would have seen little point to yacht racing. The fact that the wind might blow one yacht along faster than another wouldn't have impressed them.

They would have figured it only nature. And I am sure that my fellow citizens would have considered days and days spent loafing around an ocean waiting for a breeze to get up enough gumption to move the sailing vessels around a little, as so much lost time.

I recall one set of yacht trials in which we had a spell of becalmedness off Sandy Hook that finally became a very great bore. The yachts rolled around the drink with flapping sails, and aboard the press boats the correspondents flapped around the drink, and the whole thing was more or less of a bust.

I hope and trust that the Rotary Club of Newport, or whoever it is has charge of the trials, will provide a few decent breezes.

RUNYON'S SUGGESTION

It has always been my theory that the yacht races would be much more exciting if they put powerful motors in the yachts instead of relying entirely on the whimsies of the wind, and once, before I quite understood the yachting expert, I offered this suggestion to one of the oldest of the species.

Never will I forget the look he gave me! And yet I offered it in all sincerity. I have never spoken to a yachting expert since, at least while he was in the full throes of experting.

We had a good man with us once during the yacht trials off Sandy Hook in the person of Mr. Dick Butler, the hoarse-voiced gentleman who used to be head of the longshoremen. Mr. Butler also gained some fame in his day by abducting Mr. Harry Thaw from Mattewan, and taking him into a state more friendly to Mr. Thaw than New York at the time.

A GOOD REASON

No one could understand Mr. Butler's presence among the experts, because Mr. Butler is a person who is not commonly given to interest in such matters as yacht racing. But every day, right on the dot, Mr. Butler would embark with us on the destroyer, and sail with us up and down, and around and about.

Finally I asked Mr. Butler what he was doing there. Not that I had any objection, but I just wondered. I couldn't understand why anybody who didn't have to be there continued as a passenger. So I asked Mr. Butler.

"Why," said Mr. Butler, hoarsely. "The grub ain't bad, the grog is fair, and the sleeping's good, and I ain't got nothing else to do right now, but eat and drink and sleep, so why not do it out here?"

M'CARTHY AND ALLEN CLASH TONIGHT

By RINGSIDE

Harry Allen and Jack McCarthy will meet in a return 10-round bout at an open air show at Brockton tonight.

It will be the second tussle between these battlers. They collided at Brockton recently, Allen winning a close decision.

McCarthy will make an effort to even the score tonight.

In six-rounders, Joey Connolly of Dorchester will oppose Rudy Bauer, Jamaica Plain; Joe Dow, Lawrence, clashes with Frankie Millerick, Somerville, while Tony Jaruse, Brockton, will mingle with Young Paul, New Bedford.

Sammy Fuller has moved in from Sharon Gardens to Kelley & Hayes' Gym where he will complete his training for his 10-round bout with Andy Callahan at Tiverton, R. I., on next Monday night.

Matchmaker Alex MacLean of the Boston Garden says he intends to feature local boys from now on. His show next Tuesday night at Braves Field will have Henry Lamar of Belmont battling with Marty Gallagher of Roxbury. These heavyweights clashed twice in Baltimore, Lamar winning close decisions.

The supporting card will also bring together local ring warriors. In the eight-rounders, Ug Gibson of Medford will clash with Pat O'Flaherty of South Boston, Terry Mitchell of Somerville will tackle Steve Gorman of South Boston, Jack Dudley of Worcester will tangle up with Buddy Howard of New Haven, while Ring Larsen of Quincy will collide with Roy Bailey of Somerville.

Bobby Goldman stated today that Al Mello will resume activities in the ring in November and that he will then be ready to defend his New England welterweight and middleweight titles.

Veteran Oarsman in Charge of Regatta

Dennis Dineen, 75-year-old Lynn building superintendent, a single sculler in the '80s and nationally known in rowing, is the leader in staging the regatta in Lynn harbor on Labor Day. Whole-hearted support of the New England Amateur Association has been assured.

The regatta is to take the place of the annual city of Boston event on Labor Day. The association has appointed a committee to secure entries and to co-operate with the West Lynn Boat Club, under whose auspices the regatta will be held.

The Lynn city government's committee has appropriated $500 and merchants of the Shoe City are to swell the fund with donations. Entries will close with Dennis Dineen, City Hall, Lynn, next Wednesday.

Skipjack Wins

Duxbury, Aug. 21—Stephen Glidden's Skipjack took the honors in the junior bug race here. The Skipjack took a middle position on the starting line and was in the middle of the fleet during the run to the leeward mark off Walker's shipyard.

Notes of the Sandlots

The big sandlot attraction for semipro fans this p. m. will be the "rubber" game between the Somerville Cubs and the Philadelphia Colored Giants at Lincoln Park, Somerville.

These teams have met twice this season, each team copping a contest. The Cubs were smeared, 13 to 3, in their last meeting a few weeks ago. They intend to turn the tables by a similar score on the Giants.

Webber Knox will be on the hill for the Cubs. "Cannonball" Jackman will be on the mound for the "Joints." This looms up as a pitcher's battle unless the clouters on the rival teams go on a picnic.

The Somerville Cubs have one of the best infields in semi-pro ball. The reason is that the quartet, Donovan, Corbett, Schultz and McAuliffe, have been teaming for six years. All played together at Somerville high school.

The little world series in the Bankers' and Brokers' League will start Monday evening at Fenway Park. Two out of three games will decide the winner. A week from Friday the winners leave for Michigan to play the Detroit champions on August 30. Then they return to Boston to play the New York titletakers on September 6.

The William J. Mahoney Club will bring a strong opponent to Shirley st., Roxbury, tomorrow night, when they entertain the Somerville Progressives. Bill Mahoney, the boss, has acquired two new stars in Chris Cutler, outfielder, and Jim Donovan, outfielder and pitcher, both from Boston College.

The Oakville Baseball Club of Lynn is looking for a game for next Sunday. This team has victories over the Mayor Curley Club; the U. S. S. Trenton; the Saugus Legion team, champions of the State, and other strong semi-pro clubs. This team would like to hear from the Baysides, Madden Club and William J. Mahoney Club. Call Breakers 10123 any time during the day or write to Phil Gordon, 540 Summer st., Lynn.

A benefit game for the Xaverine Brothers of St. Joseph's School, Somerville, will be played tomorrow night at Lincoln Park between the Lincoln Old Timers and the Somerville City Club.

FORMER N. E. CHAMPION BEGINS CAMPAIGN FOR NATIONAL RECOGNITION

By BILL CONNELL

Paul Kanaly, former New England A. A. U. mile title holder, has sent in his entry for the Scott mile feature race of the annual Order of Scotch Clans games to be held at Caledonian Grove, West Roxbury, on Labor Day.

The entry of Kanaly [illegible] of the front rank [illegible] men of Greater Boston for this meet. The Belmont boy is one of the best young milers of New England and he intends to make the Scott mile his first race of a campaign which will continue through the indoor track season, and which he hopes will bring him national honors.

Bill Connell

When Kanaly first appeared in the [illegible] track races fans figured him as one of the coming stars of the game. He won some races, but did not advance to the first flight of milers. Recently Kanaly has been training hard, however, and may become one of the best in the land this year.

He is young and has plenty of ability. A good stride and a lot of fight make Kanaly's chances for success very bright.

Charley Sansone and [illegible] Gilbert are two of the runners who will make Kanaly [illegible] in the Scotch games.

Each of the runners won the Scott mile in the past [illegible] legs on the [illegible] and Sansone once [illegible]. Gilbert is running well [illegible] be the favorite to capture his third [illegible] the cup and retire the award from competition.

Sansone is always in good condition and a hard working performer should give Gilbert and Kanaly a difficult time.

The Boston Y M C A track team which took the national Y title championship at the games held in Cambridge recently has 10 men entered in the games.

The Boston Y plans to arrange a relay race between teams from the Boston and Lynn Y M C A's.

Girls' events will attract strong [illegible] Sylvia Bowman, star of the Boston Girls' Club team, and a dozen of her teammates will compete.

The Boston Swimming Association, which has a strong track team, also will enter a relay quartet.

ONE single point missed may mean a serious breakdown and a bill for repairs. Socony Service men cannot miss. They work from a chart of your car prepared by Socony engineers in co-operation with the car manufacturer. For 16 weeks they have been trained in Socony Schools to master the art of scientific lubrication—the Certified way.

They protect your steering wheel and upholstery with specially prepared covers. Each separate lubricant goes to the exact spot where it is needed—not on the steering wheel and upholstery.

Drive into a Socony station today and watch the man lubricate your car from its own chart. It's a pleasure to see how quickly a really scientific job is done. And remember—Socony Certified Lubrication costs no more than the old fashioned hit-or-miss greasing.

Cathie's Thoughts Take Romantic Turn in Day of Gaiety

WHAT HAS GONE BEFORE

Cathie Paige, next to eldest daughter in a fatherless home, secures her first position in the office of Alfred A. Farnsworth, a successful engineer. In his waiting room she meets Gordon Moore, a young engineer, in whom she finds herself much interested. Moore is awaiting her on a street corner when she leaves the office and he asks her to join him at lunch. Cathie, in gay spirits over securing her first position, accepts.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER 2

Cathie lurched against her companion, murmured "Excuse me," and braced herself in her corner. She ought to talk, to say something bright and interesting, but she couldn't think of anything. Most men would be expecting her to, but Gordon Moore didn't seem to. She stole another look at him . . . oh dear, so handsome! And not the least bit conceited . . . She could have cried she was so happy.

Just before they reached the Statler, Cathie thought of her mother . . . what would she say? What would anybody say? But she was too excited to really care. The taxi was stopping. They had driven right up to the door, and a man in uniform was helping her out with all the elegance of a grand duke, at least, though he was only the doorman, of course.

Day Dreaming

"I wish it were night and I had an evening gown. One of those new slimsy ones, with a train!" she thought, as they were walking through the lobby into a great, cool dining room.

It would have been fun to come in at night, with Mr. Moore wearing a tuxedo . . . he'd look wonderful in one . . . And she'd be wearing black, too, black net, no black velvet, with a long, swishing something behind her.

But she just shook her head and pretended to be interested in the view from the window in which their table was placed. She was really thinking about the only train she had ever had. The brown velour couch cover off the parlor sofa. The rainy days that had gone whizzing by while she and Ruth took turns. . . . Ruth always kept it the longest because she was the oldest, and cry-baby Jean trying to step on it because they said she was too little to play lady. . . .

He ordered for her. Things he thought she would like. Chicken, a salad, iced tea in tall glasses, the wildest sounding dessert. It turned out to be a sort of cream puff filled with ice cream, covered with chocolate, topped with an avalanche of whipped cream. He toyed with his. How could anyone eat a thing like that? She devoured hers silently and thoroughly, scraping up the last dab of whipped cream, leaving the cherry for the last.

"But you didn't eat yours!" she cried when she had finished, and only the chocolate-smeared lace paper doily on the white plate was left.

"I'd rather smoke." He extended a package of cork-tipped cigarettes in a pigskin case. "Have one?"

Cathie laughed out loud.

"Of course not," she said.

Like Magazine Ad

It was nearly 2 o'clock when they had finished luncheon and started out on what Moore declared was to be a triumphal tour of the town.

"What you need," he told her, laughing, "is a walk, after all that whipped cream and stuff. Otherwise you're likely to curl up in a corner and go to sleep!"

"I am not!" she retorted spiritedly.

But he made her walk, for all that. They made a pretty picture, the pair of them, striding down Boylston st., the man tall and dark and powerfully built, the girl little and fair and lithe. People looked at them, and Cathie's cheeks turned a deeper pink and her eyes a brighter, more laughing blue. She was conscious that she was looking her best, and glad, oh, so glad, that Ruth had let her wear her new blue suit, and that Jean had loaned her the coral beads.

"I look like a magazine ad," she thought happily, catching a glimpse of herself in a window. . . . "Like a school girl complexion, or a snappy clothes for a rainy days, only I haven't any umbrella and it isn't raining . . . anyway, I don't think he's ashamed of me, but, of course, he's used to much sweller girls, debutantes and all that . . . I'll probably wake up pretty soon and find out that it never happened at all!"

Shopping District

They swung along to the shopping section, looking in windows as they went, but lots of them Cathie didn't see at all. All she saw was her picture of herself and him, a tall dark man and a short, fair girl, looking so well together, reflected against a nebulous, shifting background of antique furniture, jewelry, gowns and Oriental rugs.

It was a green glass lemonade set that finally caught her eye.

"Oh, isn't that darling?" she cried. "There—on the table, under the striped umbrella? Wouldn't it be lovely in your back yard, that is, if you had a lawn and all?"

And once she stopped and pulled his arm when they passed a display of end-of-the-season hats.

"That's a good buy for $2.95," she assured him. "The brown straw. You could still wear it next season!"

It was then that he suggested that they walk through to Chinatown. He ached to buy her the fool lemonade set and the funny hat, but it wouldn't do at all, he knew that.

He felt happier when they had left the big shops behind and were wandering up the narrow, winding street flanked on both sides by dark shops.

Gifts Exchanged

"I wouldn't know one from the other today. I'm too excited."

"Then this is just the day to buy you a shark's fin!" In a cheap dry goods store at the end of the street he bought her some absurd toys in walnut shells, and a box of queer looking things supposed to blossom into water lilies and star fish when dropped into water.

"Now I'm going to buy you something," she said gravely, selecting a tiny red lacquer pin tray under the impression that it would be just the thing for ashes. She paid for it with three nickels and five copper pennies.

"Oh, but you shouldn't," he protested.

"Why not? You bought me something. Besides, I want to!" She was all gay and excited, because she was making him a present. "And you must keep it, to remember me by!"

"I won't need anything to remember you by." But he took the little gift in its wisp of tissue paper and put it carefully into his pocket.

After that the afternoon just melted away. A clock struck somewhere, reminding him of the

Lays Tax Increase to Nichols

EX-MAYOR HIT AS RATE IS RAISED

Mayor Curley Also Blames the Poor Relief and School Expense for $2.80 Boost

Mr. and Mrs. John Citizen today saw their tax bills jump $2.80 on the thousand.

The Boston tax rate leaped from the $28 of ex-Mayor Nichols' regime to $30.80, announced in a statement by Mayor Curley.

Each blames the other.

Said Curley:

"The jump of $2.80 was caused by the previous administration, the mounting cost of poor relief and school expenses as well as my own program to provide employment for the jobless."

Said Nichols:

"His honor, the mayor, may have in mind the possibility that his two prior administrations have exerted pressure on succeeding tax rates, including the present rate, for which I think he can afford to take the responsibility himself as I did for my rates."

Nevertheless according to experts, the increase is not as high as expected. A boost of at least $3 had been predicted.

Curley's announcement revealed that the present valuation of real and personal property, on which taxes are assessed, is $1,972,148,200, which represents an increase since last year of $18,917,200.

The valuation gain on real estate is $21,023,400, but a loss in the valuation of personal property of $2,106,200 is reported by the assessors.

The actual cost of maintenance of municipal activities for the current year, together with State taxes and special assessments levied by the Commonwealth, is $76,[illegible]8,861.23, an increase over 1928 of $5,061,875.46.

Estimated revenue aggregates $16,492,671.52, and an overlay of $1,015,600.22 places upon taxpayers the burden of providing in actual cash for municipal expenses $60,756,783.84.

"The tax rate for 1930 is $30.80," the mayor said, "and while there is some comfort in the knowledge that it is less than the first year of the preceding administration, it is, nevertheless, regrettable. It is unfortunate that due to precedent and pressure upon outgoing administrations a burden is imposed upon succeeding ones and this is responsible for a large portion of the increase in rate.

Paris Trip Their Goal

Ethel F. Mallett

Lillian T. Chandler

REPRESENTATIVE NEW ENGLAND girls, all of them, have entered the Boston Evening American's TYPICAL NEW ENGLAND GIRL contest, which closes September 15. Aspiring candidates for the final honor, with which goes a trip to Paris, $200 to spend for a week in the new and old treasures of the French capital, with passage on two of the best transatlantic liners, include Lillian T. Chandler of Salem, who has registered her chances with the Typical Girl editor. Also included among the charming entrants in the contest are Ethel F. Mallett of Peaks Island, Me., and Stephanie H. Tomkins of Lawrence, two who believe they possess that New England feminine something upon which the contest is based.

Greater Boston Girls in Paris Trip Race

THE TYPICAL NEW ENGLAND GIRL

With every mail there arrives so many of such girls, that the Typical New England Girl Editor of the Boston Evening American is overwhelmed. So much of feminine loveliness is almost unbelievable.

Charming young women, all with purpose and vision, all with something of that New England something which will bring to the ultimate winner a coveted trip to Paris, $200 to spend for a week's tour of the enlightening and fascinating new and old magnificences of the French capital and two passages on the best of ocean liners.

Something to try for!

The search continues until midnight, Sept. 15, after which five judges will decide upon the one young woman who is to be crowned Miss Typical New England and as such entitled to the award offered by the Boston Evening American and Miss Gloria Swanson, cinema star of two continents.

That the offer is greatly appreciated by New England women is evidenced in the daily avalanche of typical girl mail and the perfumed postscripts to completed blanks registering young women from every conceivable corner of New England as possible candidates for the Typical New England Girl.

Children hate to take medicine as a rule, but every child loves the taste of Castoria. And this pure vegetable preparation is just as good as it tastes; just as bland and harmless as the recipe reads. (The wrapper tells you just what Castoria contains.)

When Baby's cry warns of colic, a few drops of Castoria has him soothed, asleep again in a jiffy. Nothing is more valuable in diarrhea. When coated tongue or bad breath tell of constipation, invoke its gentle aid to cleanse and regulate a child's bowels. In colds or children's diseases, use it to keep the system from clogging. Your doctor will tell you Castoria deserves a place in the family medicine cabinet until your child is grown. He knows it is safe for the tiniest baby; effective for a boy in his teens. With this special children's remedy handy, you need never risk giving a boy or girl medicine meant for grown-ups.

SAYS 'GOOD-BY' IN BOTTLE NOTE

A corked bottle bobbing on the waves off the army base in South Boston caught the attention of Maurice Fiore of 39 Cooper st., North End today, and fishing it up he found a runaway husband's note to his wife and family.

The note reads:

"I am leaving you, so good-bye, dear wife and baby. Hope you find happiness in your new lover.

"I find there is no hope for me, and I am leaving it all to you.

"I will meet you some day, where, perhaps, you will love me and come back to me. Finder please notify my wife, Opal Dewitt, 23 S. Broad st., Middletown, Ohio."

According to Police Chief O. F. K[illegible] of Middletown, Harvey C. Dewitt deserted his wife and two children, Shirley, 3, and Mildred, 6, three months ago and his wife is now in the destitute.

When he left home he said he was going to South America, but later his wife received letters postmarked Boston.

Cupid on Vacation Leads Somerville Girl to Altar

A vacation romance was revealed today through the filing of marriage intentions at Somerville City Hall of Miss Mildred E. Hanson, 24, of 13 Quincy st., that city, and William A. Easterling, 25, of Hattisburg, Miss.

The couple met while Miss Hanson was on a vacation in Washington, where Easterling was attending school. They will be married Saturday night at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. William J. Hanson, and will reside in Mississippi.

At the same time the marriage intentions were filed of Elizabeth A. Dobson, 45, of 1249 Broadway, Somerville, and Cornelius S. O'Donnell, 65, of 638 Bennington st., East Boston, a retired real estate dealer.

SEEKS 5-CENT REVERE FARE

Inspired by the decision of the Boston Elevated Co. trustees to try the experiment of a five-cent fare with strip tickets during the month of September, Rep. Thomas F. Carroll of Revere today asked the trustees of the Eastern Massachusetts Street Railway to set up a five-cent [illegible] fare in Revere.

The present fare is 10 cents and book of 12 tickets for $1.

Beginning Sept. 1 a month's experiment, local 6-cent fares on the Boston Elevated will be reduced to 5 cents without transfers, it was announced by Edward Dana, general manager, by authority of the board of public trustees.

The reduction is prompted by the necessity of increasing riding to offset, if possible, the losses due to use of private automobiles and present industrial conditions. These caused a reduction of 1,360,400 in the number of revenue passengers on the system in July, 1930, compared to July, 1929.

$646,000 LAND TAKING PASSED BY THE MAYOR

Points to Unfairness of System Prior to Adopting a 10 P. C. Plus Plan

Land damage awards in connection with the $1,000,000 widening of Charles st., and the approaches to the new $16,000,000 East Boston traffic tunnel were approved by Mayor Curley today.

In approving an award of $11[illegible] to the Northern Realty Co. for land assessed at $74,176, taken in connection with the Charles st. project, the Mayor pointed out what he termed the unfairness of the system prior to his recent adoption of the policy of paying not more than 10 per cent above the official city valuation.

The land involved in this deal is at 161-165 Charles st., Gibson court and [illegible] West Cedar st. The price was agreed to by the street commissioners prior to adoption of his new policy, the Mayor said.

Agreements for payment of 10 per cent above the assessed values on several pieces of property on the approaches to the new tunnel were effected today.

Mary M. M[illegible] sold to the city the property at 106-108 Cross st. and 136-122 North st. for $341,000.

Max and Charles Wyzanski, trustees, and Carrie W. Riesenfeld sold four lots for $193,930. They are at 75-79 North st., 41-71 Johns st., 93-101 North st. and 123 Cross st.

It is expected additional settlement will be made on this basis within a few days.

Maid of Erin Sought for Float in Boston Parade

The peculiarly absorbent nature of A. L. Vollman, director of the Tercentenary float parade to be held in this city Sept. 15 and 17, steered him toward more trouble today when he announced that he is seeking a "typical Irish girl."

And while Vollman didn't bar red-headed typical Irish girls, in his own words, he did not include them as eligible. And a titian-haired colleen is just as much typical as is one with raven hair.

The girl to be selected by Vollman will ride on a "Float of All Nations" in the parade, to be held on the night of Sept. 15 and in the afternoon of the 17th, as part of Boston Week in the Tercentenary celebration.

Vollman declared the girl to be chosen Maid of Erin must have black hair, deep blue eyes, fair skin and white, even teeth. She is eligible if she comes from any part of the Commonwealth.

Samuel Ross Chosen to Take Binn's Place

By BERNARD J. DOHERTY

Samuel Ross, associate commissioner of the State Department of Labor and Industries, was today chosen chairman of the William M. Butler political committee, to fill the vacancy caused by the hurried withdrawal of Chairman Abraham Binns from that committee.

The retirement of Binns, who is secretary of the Weavers' Union, within 48 hours of his being selected as chairman, came as a decided sensation in political and labor circles.

The new chairman, in addition to his state position, is secretary of the Mule Spinners' Union in New Bedford, native city of the candidate.

Binns claimed that when he joined the movement he was under the impression the committee was to be formed of citizens of various shades of political differences with the sole object of laboring for a unification of labor laws throughout the country. Discovering it to be entirely a Republican committee, he resigned.

LETTER OF RESIGNATION

The formal letter of resignation of Binns, read today and accepted by the committee, read:

"Please accept my resignation from the William M. Butler Political Committee. Our organization is in entire accord with the unification of labor laws movement, but thinks the interest of the association is best served by keeping aloof from partisan politics.

"I was under the impression, when the committee was formed, that it was a permanent one whose primary object was to establish unified labor laws throughout the states. I am for any man who is in sympathy with the unified movement. As it happens, I am in a labor party which in the near future I believe, will have a national organization."

SURPRISE BY DRAPER

Eben S. Draper, Butler's rival for the Republican nomination for United States Senator, sprang a surprise on radio listeners today when Mrs. Draper, who was speaking over Station WNAC gave way to the candidate.

Draper read an editorial from one of the Boston papers ridiculing the Butler proposal for an amendment to the federal constitution to bring about a universal 48-hour labor law.

Mrs. Draper had been stressing the importance to the G. O. P. of her husband's nomination if it hopes, she said, to win the election in November.

Joseph B. Ely, candidate for the Democratic nomination for governor, as guest at the annual reunion of Charlestown residents who spend their vacations at Silver Lake, Wilmington, issued a call to the youth of the State to unite for a State-wide party under his leadership.

"My appeal is to young men and women, whose education and ability fit them for public service, to rally to the support of a new State-wide Democracy," he stated.

MANLEY TO BE REPAIRED HERE

A guarantee has been received from Secretary of the Navy Charles Francis Adams that the general repairs and overhauling of the U. S. S. Manley will be done at the Boston Navy Yard.

"I am doing everything reasonable to be fair to Boston with a situation where there is really not work enough to go around," wired Secretary Adams to Congressman John W. McCormack.

The Manley was originally scheduled to come here for overhauling and a report that the vessel was being sent to Norfolk instead caused complaints to the secretary by Congressman McCormack, Mayor Curley and others.

Secretary Adams explained to McCormack that the ship has a [illegible] defect which requires special technique to be found only at the Norfolk yard, which did the same job before on the Manley. For this reason the Manley will go to Norfolk but only for a short period, during which only five or six men will work on it. After that it will come here.

WOMAN SAVES BABY'S LIFE

The life of seven-months-old Alberta Coveney, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Coveney of 11 Neptune ave., Winthrop, was saved by Mrs. Elizabeth Segal of [illegible] Waumbeck st., Roxbury, after the child had swallowed a pin.

Mrs. Segal, who was passing the Coveney home, heard the screams of Esther Lyons, 13, who was taking care of the baby during her mother's absence. Alberta had found an open safety pin and put it into her mouth. The pin lodged in her throat and [illegible] her wind.

Running onto the piazza where the baby was strangling in her carriage, Mrs. Siegal thrust her finger down Alberta's throat and managed to remove the pin.

The child had almost stopped breathing and her face was beginning to turn black when the pin was taken out of her throat.

PARAMOUNT SIGNS NOTED SONG FAVORITES TO MAKE TWO-REELERS

HARRY RICHMAN, MARION HARRIS INCLUDED

By LOUELLA O. PARSONS
Universal Service Motion Picture Editor
[illegible]

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 21—Things are happening at the Paramount studios since the new change in division of executive duties. Conference after conference is taking place with the determination on the part of the executives to make pictures that will line up the patrons at the box office. Even the short subjects are being given more than usual attention. Last to this imposing galaxy of favorites who will do shorts this season for Paramount:

Harry Richman [illegible] Marion Harris [illegible] Ginger Rogers and Armida have all put their signatures on contracts to make [illegible] bers will be made in New York and I [illegible] song favorites have been signed.

"BEAU GESTE" did more for Ralph Forbes than any other picture. Up to the time he played one of the three brothers, the young Englishman [illegible] known as a stage actor. There is a deal of sentiment for him in playing in the sequel, "Beau Ideal," and that is why he was very glad [illegible] R K O to play the juvenile lead. Mary Brian will be the leading lady. As I remember "Beau Geste," Alice Joyce and Mary Brian were the only two women in the cast. This, too, is sort of a memorable event for Mary Brian who made her first picture, "Peter Pan," under the direction of H[illegible] [illegible] will also direct "Beau Ideal." Alice Joyce was invited to join the merry throng but she was unable to take part in the reunion.

LONG BEACH PLANS to do right by its townsman, Richard Cromwell, formerly known as Roy Radabaugh. There will be a banquet, photographs, brass bands and all the other glory due a young man who had carried off the delectable role of "Tol'able David." Meanwhile [illegible] getting tested and rehearsed and instructed. He will have to be good after all the competition he had from all over the country. Columbia plans to assist Richard with a specially picked cast. Joan Peers plays the girl and yesterday Jack Blystone, director, put his approval on the following members of the cast: Henry Walthall, Edmund Breeze, Helen Ware, George Duryea, Peter Richmond and Harlan E. Knight.

ALEXANDER KORDA remains with the Fox Co. The first intimation that Hollywood received that Alex contemplated leaving brought him a shower of telegrams, telephone calls and personal messages. He could have signed three contracts with other companies in one day, but before he had time to consider any of these offers he had signed a new contract with the Fox Co. He starts work in [illegible] "The Princess and the Plumber," with Charles Farrell and Maureen O'Sullivan. THREE GROUPS IN REALM OF VAUDEVILLE

By FRANK CAVERLY
of Raymond and Caverly

Vaudeville performers are divided into three groups. First [illegible] whose time is divided about evenly between the legitimate and [illegible] and vaudeville. The third group [illegible] the visitors from the talkies who spend a few weeks or months in vaudeville for the purpose of cleaning up a nice piece of [illegible].

The essential vaudevillian who may be drawn from the first group is in a class by himself. There is no one in the world like him. He looks and acts and [illegible] different. He even has a language all his own. It is a strange and wonderful vocabulary. A layman or outsider [illegible] would understand very little or none at all. It would be Greek to him. The one who is given the credit for inventing the strange vocabulary is Al Grant, one of America's greatest monologists.

A flop—Terrible, a hopeless failure.
All wet—The same but worse.
Apple-sauce—No sense to it.
Handcuffed — An audience which won't applaud.
Died, or dying—Playing to no applause.
A Brodie—A complete flop.
A Panic—Better than a riot.
A Wow—The final accolade.
A Fish—A poor act.
Deucing—Appearing second on the bill.
A Shine—A hick who thinks he's an actor.
A Morgue—A house that doesn't applaud.
The North Pole—Same thing.
A Swell Pair of Pipes—A good voice.
A Guttenberg — An actor's wardrobe.
The Sticks—Small towns.
A Rattler Jump— An overnight railroad trip.
Off to Buffalo—A dance exit.
Darby—Weekly wages.
Ruined Them—Same thing as panic.
A Belly Howl—A big spontaneous laugh.
The Jury—Men who book acts for different circuits.
Split Time — Three days' work in any theater.
The Whiff—The wife of a performer.

"Miss Columbia" gets a trip to Hollywood, a two-weeks contract at $[illegible] a week, and a certain screen permanence for the figure of Columbia which will open all the company's feature productions. She will also appear in an [illegible] of "Talking Screen Snapshots" and be entertained by the stars and directors of Hollywood.

HOWARD BORN COMEDIAN

AL TRAHAN TELLS HOW HE BECAME COMEDIAN

By AL TRAHAN
Star of "The Second Little Show"

TRAHAN IS THE NAME—James Albert Trahan—but that's much too long to fit handily in lights or newspaper headlines so I long ago abbreviated it to just plain Al Trahan. Right now I'm the Head Man in "The Second Little Show" at the Wilbur (Matinees Wednesday and Saturday—adv.) and that is probably the reason why Nick Young, the American's dramatic editor, asked me to write this story.

IT ALL HAPPENED when Nick came back to my dressing-room one night last week and I inducted him with fitting pomp and circumstance into the Royal Order of [illegible] This is a very good order. Take my word for [illegible] ought to know—I [illegible] it. But [illegible] back to my story. Nick was initiated and after the ceremony there was the usual period during which social amenities were exchanged. It was then that I told Nick that I had a warm spot in my heart for newspapermen and newspapers because I had worked as a stereotyper in my native New Bedford.

Al Trahan

* * *

NICK WAS SKEPTICAL, so I had to hunt through my trunk and produce evidence of this earlier occupation. I even had to show him the scars that molten lead had printed indelibly on my arms and hands. One thing that Nick didn't know was that he could hardly mention an occupation that I haven't taken a fling at at one time or another. So you see, I had him licked from the start.

At any rate, after I had sketched my early career briefly to him, Nick suggested that it would make a good story. Being lethargic, as most newspapermen are, he talked me into writing the story for him, so here I am, trying my hand at the reportorial end of newspaper work and thus adding another to my long list of occupations.

* * *

To get it over with as quickly as possible, let me list here that at various times I have worked as an iron puddler in the New Bedford Foundry, stereotyper, locomotive engineer, acrobat, strong man, boxer, baseball player, physical culturist, fireman, plumber, baritone singer, dancer, pianist and now, comedian.

Right here and now I'll admit that that was a pretty round-about way to become a comedian but it was all a lot of fun and I wouldn't have missed the experience for the world.

I've always had a lot of fun even in the days when I had to pawn my battered clarinet for 50 cents with which to get a beef stew. I guess that probably explains why I gravitated to comedy in the theater.

* * *

DURING THE WAR I enlisted in the naval aviation and tried to get an overseas assignment. But I was doing so well with my impromptu entertainments on this side that the government transferred me into an entertainment unit and I spent the duration of the war doing what I could to buck up the soldiers.

After the war I decided that if I was good enough for the government I was good enough for the general public, so I started out in vaudeville. The comedy act that I have now perfected did not come all in a flash. It is the product of all those intervening years since the war when I fought and starved for bookings and climbed slowly through the ranks of vaudeville until I became a headliner.

* * *

I HAD ALWAYS WANTED to do a comedy piano act and somewhere in the back of my head there was always the idea that comedy could be gotten from a lowly accompanist browbeating his prima donna. This dated back to the days when I was always called on at boys and girls' parties to play the piano while the other boys grabbed off the girls. As a result I usually ended the evening watching the other fellows walking off with the girls while I walked home with a roll of music under my arm.

I vowed that some day I'd get even with prima donnas for all those indignities and that's just exactly what I'm doing in my present piano act.

I'm a vindictive guy, ain't I?

LITTLE HOPE TO CONTINUE TAX REDUCTION

Washington, Aug. 21 (AP)—Treasury officials see little prospects of maintaining for next year the reduction of 1 per cent in income taxes which was allowed this year as an emergency measure by Congress.

Congressional action would be necessary to extend the emergency reduction over another year. Unless action is taken at the short session beginning next December the tax rates enacted in 1928 would apply on next year's tax.

While the outlook is not regarded as hopeful for the lower tax scale, Secretary Mellon said today it was too early to begin talking with any definiteness about the tax situation.

The treasury secretary said no estimate would be made about the future at this time. It was indicated he agreed with the treasury experts that the general business situation right now does not warrant hope for extending the emergency reduction over another year.

No action is expected to be taken by the treasury in the formulation of the tax policy for next year until shortly before the December session of Congress convenes.

TWINS MAY SEE SHOW FREE

Are you a twin? If you are clip this story, and with your twin enjoy a performance at the Scollay Square Theater tomorrow as the guest of the theater and the Boston American.

Simplicio and Lucio Godeno, the only male Siamese twins in the world, now playing at the Scollay Square Theater, expressed the desire to meet all the Greater Boston twins and tell them how it seems to be joined together. So the Boston American arranged it.

Just clip this story and present it at the theater box office where tickets will be given to you free. But you must be accompanied by your twin.

Milk Racketeering Costs N. Y. $1,155,000

New York, Aug. 21 (AP)—Consumers today drank milk with the knowledge that it was costing them about $1,155,000 a week more than it should because of racketeering. Estimate of the increased cost was made by health department officials based on testimony at the attorney-general's investigation of food profiteering.

Waltz Due to Return to Popular Favor

New York, Aug. 21 (AP)—The return of the waltz to popular favor is predicted by Thomas M. Sheehy, of Chicago, president of the Dancing Masters of America. Addressing the organization's convention, he said the long skirt and the popularity of soft, crooning melodies were responsible.

Collects 'Proof' of Soviet Slave Labor

Hoquiam, Wash., Aug. 21 (AP)—Representative Albert Johnson, head of the House immigration committee, has collected affidavits which he said proved lumber, wheat and other commodities received in the United States from Russia were produced by "Soviet induced labor."

G. O. P. May Support Heflin for Senator

Birmingham, Ala., Aug. 21 (AP)—With early indications that a state ticket would not be placed in the November general election, the Alabama Republican Convention met today to vote on the question of supporting independent candidates headed by J. Thomas Heflin for United States Senator.

Boy Shoots Woman and Kills Himself

Galt, Ont., Aug. 21 (AP)—Thomas Oldham, 18-year-old farm hand, shot Mrs. David Main, wife of his employer, in the head today, then shot himself and died in a few hours. Mrs. Main, who is 25, was not fatally hurt.

PORT OF BOSTON IN REVIEW

By CARL MORRISON

Few people realize how great a contribution is being made to the development of Boston harbor by the local office of the foreign and domestic commerce department of the federal government.

An example of the effective work is available this week. Three conferences are being held to aid Boston and New England business.

Today at the office on the 18th floor of the Custom House Consul J. C. Hudson of Sydney, Australia, will meet local business men to answer questions about trade conditions in that country. Export and import problems will be discussed.

Another consul whose knowledge of foreign conditions will be open to business men today is W. E. Chapman of Cali, Columbia. A third conference will be held on Aug. 25 when Trade Commissioner W. S. Dowd of Tokio, Japan, will be at the office.

Consul Hudson is well informed on what business men consider the most interesting trade experiment now existing in the world, with the possible exception of Soviet Russia methods.

The labor government in Australia has inaugurated an import embargo on some 75 products, including many from Boston, in an effort to develop Australian industries. There is a controversy in Australia as to whether or not this is proving successful.

YOUNG TRAVELER

Due in Boston Sept. 2 on the City of Bayside of the American Pioneer line is a young traveller, a two-year-old boy named I. Spaeten. The ship is coming from Australia with cargo for Rogers & Webb.

Other passengers, some of whom will leave the ship at Boston, are Mrs. B. Watters, W. Greig, Mrs. E. Ingold, F. Oates, G. A. MacMinegall, Mrs. J. A. MacMenegall, Mr. and Mrs. Littlejohn, Miss W. Miller and Miss C. McKenzie.

TODAY'S WHO'S WHO

Edward J. Lang

The subject of today's "Who's Who in the Harbor" is Edwin J. Lang, publisher of the Marine Guide, a weekly bulletin of ship arrivals and departures.

Lang is active in the Foreign Commerce Club, The Maritime Association, the Chamber of Commerce, the Propeller Club, the Traffic Club of New England and the Traffic Club of Worcester.

The rise of the Marine Guide is a familiar epic in the harbor. Lang came here 11 years ago from California and started as a stranger in the harbor. Today he is known and liked in hundreds of marine offices. His weekly bulletin is the only one of its kind in the country, and of great assistance to shippers. He is an ardent port booster.

In California, Lang was in the steamship business for several years. He is also editor of the New York Motor Express Guide. He lives in Beachmont and his hobbies are swimming at his summer camp on the Cape and motoring. He is a member of several banquet committees and is known as "Two Dessert" Lang to his friends.

HARBOR PICNIC

More and more the harbor is becoming popular for outings by organizations of people employed in the port, and by outsiders. On Friday, Sept. 5, the 400 members and friends of the Unifruco Club of the United Fruit Co., will have a moonlight sail down the harbor on the Myrtle II, with dancing as a feature. The party will leave Long Wharf at 7:30 o'clock, returning in time for the late trains.

ONLY ONE BID

Steamship men were surprised to learn that only one bid was received for the sale of the old time quarantine boat, Waterhouse. An Atlantic ave. junk dealer submitted a relatively low bid, which will be passed upon by the surgeon general of the United States. The boat has been in active service for 46 years and was recently replaced by a modern vessel, the George B. Loring.

COMMONWEALTH PIER

Several recommendations are to be made to the State Department of Public Works by the Boston Port Authority, which has just completed a study of conditions at Commonwealth Pier.

Under the authority granted by the Legislature, the board is a state and city constituted organization with full power to investigate conditions on any piers in Boston regardless of the ownership.

These recommendations will include:

1. Suggestion that cargo be piled at greater distances from passenger gangplanks than at present.

2. That consignees of cargo be urged to remove their goods more promptly, thus relieving congestion.

3. That any proposed encroachments of space by the engineering department be merely temporary, until the state can erect a new building to house the public works department elsewhere.

ENTRIES STILL POURING IN

letter to the Typical Girl Editor and it's all done.

From the fast growing files of typical New England girl entrants, we pick at random the penned sentiments of a Walpole mannequin, M. Elizabeth Trahan, of 8 South st., brunette and interested in music and dramatics. Five feet five inches in height, she weighs 135 pounds.

White from Dedham, Madeline Eastwood of Allen lane says in her coupon, that she is a blonde, is five feet six inches and weighs 132 pounds. Swimming and outdoor sports are her hobbies.

DORCHESTER GIRL ENTERS

And still another hopeful is Kathleen Parker of 186 Columbia rd., Dorchester, a "home-girl," brunette with 136 pounds to carry around her four feet five inches of femininity.

"Sorry I haven't a larger picture but my accomplishments are music and athletics," writes Helen Chamberlain of 139 Independence ave., Quincy, another brunette.

And still we sift them through photographs of girls with fine heads and faces, countenances of strength and character, of determination, of New England prudence and New England charm. Great combination and the photographs reveal graphically the attributes.

Here's another hopeful candidate. Antoinette Bourgault of Lawrence, born in Canada, with athletics her special concern. A little girl only 4 feet eleven inches, she weighs 90 pounds and has added these penned hopes with her entry:

A DREAM COME TRUE

"My dream has come true about this free trip to Paris and I'm doing my best to win like any other girl. Just think of seeing Paris with your own eyes, the Eiffel Tower, Cathedral of Notre Dame and such wonders. This would be a good rest for some girl, whoever she is.

"In fact I admire the charming Miss Gloria Swanson for giving a contest for a typical girl. It would be like a big dream to me, crossing the Atlantic, a dream come true. I know there will be many girls ahead of me in this contest, but I'm hoping my dream comes true."

Such faith can any girl have. The contest goes on. The Typical New England Editor welcomes all entrants.

Sour Stomach

Just a tasteless dose of Phillips' Milk of Magnesia in water. That is an alkali, effective, yet harmless. It has been the standard antacid for 50 years among physicians everywhere. One spoonful will neutralize at once many times its volume in acid. It is the right way, the quick, pleasant and efficient way to kill the excess acid. The stomach becomes sweet, the pain departs. You are happy again in five minutes.

Don't depend on crude methods. Employ the best way yet evolved in all the years of searching. That is Phillips' Milk of Magnesia.

Be sure to get the genuine Phillips' Milk of Magnesia prescribed by physicians for 50 years in correcting excess acids. 25c and 50c a bottle—any drug store.

A proud owner of these Binoculars will be long remembered as one of those courageous pioneers who succeeded in surmounting bill-boards and taking a peek at real America. In hunting beasts of [illegible] disposition these binoculars are absolutely priceless, for with them you can get a close view of the game and still have a fair start to beat the animal to safety. These binoculars will also give excellent service to those who take pleasure in seeing manhood in flower grasping over the untilled field in a mad chase after the modern Holy Grail, an inflated pigskin, or in breathlessly scrutinizing a few horse-tails sticking out of a cloud of dust gently wafted around an open track, and many other curious and diverting sights which too great a risk of our person or pocketbook make it imprudent to see at close range.

COOK-COOS

Do Not Be Fooled by Idle Gossip and Organized [illegible]

Chill Strikes Judy When Tris Says He Is Not Going Ashore

CHAPTER 26

JUDY KNEW it was Kit Camp—knew by the exasperation that tightened along her spine. Why did he always make her want to beat against him with her fists, to cry at him:

She brought her gaze from the long terrifying [illegible] of white on the horizon [illegible] at the shore of [illegible] Island which was drawing toward the west, now flicked it across [illegible] lounging against the [illegible]. The expression he had worn last night was in his face [illegible] speculation. Protest too? Well, why?

Kit Saw It
When Judy Was Kissed

"You're late today, Kit. After what's been going on—all the excitement—well, I thought you'd be drifting into sweet repose. Or perhaps the insouciant Mr. Doyle traded shifts again so you could point out scenic glories to lady landlubbers?"

The [illegible] of his teeth flashed. The insouciant Mr. Doyle held wassail last night and over slept. What especially was [illegible] on? Seemed a tame enough [illegible] to your star reporter friend. We editorials [illegible] need news [illegible] the Radiogram [illegible] front page stuff [illegible] of course [illegible] Judy [illegible].

Yet why shouldn't she tell? Why was she bound to shield the sailor whom she didn't know?

Why did Kit keep grinning at her in that assured way? Did he know what had happened and was he laughing at her?

"A tame night for Constant Readers also, St. Christopher," she spoke as evenly as she could and laughed to hide her hesitation.

"Song of the sad sea waves—'creak of deck and halyards high'—what's a halyard, Kit? And what part of the Mohawk is 'before the mast'? I'm that eager to be eddicated, don't you see?"

"But I say, Judy, you mentioned excitement, y'know. Let's have it, what? Good girl, Judy—"

"You're extremely British at times, dear Kit. By excitement I meant this and that—these and those—everything and nothing. And now if you can bear for me to tear myself away, there's the breakfast bugle."

"Wait, Judy." He studied her, light shimmering in his eyes. He wished to say something, he was considering this, searching her. He started to speak, changed his mind, touched the end of his finger to the cleft in her chin. "Nothing. Looking for a date Montreal tomorrow. I'm a jolly good shower of sights in Montreal fair frail."

"There are others, Mr. Kit Camp," she cried with a toss of her head.

"Meaning Mallet? I don't think so. Did he tell you he would go ashore? Ah, come, vixen—give us a date."

"I will not." She was angry now. "You can't tell me this and that! Say who'll go ashore and who won't! You stop calling me names, too! If you think it's funny—"

"Not funny. Light hearted. Light headed maybe. Not funny, though. Maybe you'll change your mind. I'd like it, Judith."

"Oh? Well, you always make me angry. You have that way."

"That's because you like me." He broke into a laugh red with pleasure. "See you this afternoon at least? Good-by—"

She ran along the passage, sat down at the table [illegible] as Captain [illegible] was pushing back [illegible]. The Mohawk had taken on the new [illegible] he said. One of those [illegible] and [illegible] the channel was a [illegible] one could make a [illegible] of [illegible] chocolate in the afternoon and tie up at Montreal in the morning.

Exchanged Smiles
Peggy and Tennant

"You're [illegible] to save me, dear?" Peggy said [illegible] keep [illegible] down. Judy wondered [illegible] what would happen to her [illegible] to [illegible] Philadelphia [illegible] expect [illegible] as she went [illegible] Betsy Rowe's [illegible]. Betsy had telephoned that she was [illegible] and wished to see Judy, everybody else being busy with affairs of their own.

"Shove 'em on the floor, do. No, I'm not seasick—don't be silly. Just a head. And how!"

"What do you want to do it for, Betsy? Might as well be home if you're going to drink yourself ill."

"Don't preach. That's not what I wanted to see you for. Listen. I'm engaged!"

"Why—why Betsy! You didn't say anything—is it someone I know? No announcement—"

"I love you like anything, Judy, but you're a goose. Of course it hasn't been announced—never will be for all I know. Only happened last night. It's Wally Murphy. You know—fellow I've been necking all over the place. Young officer fellow, dumbbell. Good looking trick—and what a sweetheart."

"As you say it probably never will be announced. Think it over, Betsy. You never saw him till the other day."

"Yeh, but things happen fast at sea. Ship is like a desert island, you know. Say, you ought to talk! Saw you and Good-looking sneaking out last night. Anyway, it's great while it lasts."

"Tranquil after what we've gone through. Life might be so sometime: settle down in a sacred calm."

"You couldn't stand it," he answered moodily. "Roll of drums, my dear—clatter of the tray. That's living. City is the place."

"Tomorrow then?" She was excited and eager all at once. "In Montreal, Tris? You're looking forward to this?"

He flicked the ash from his cigarette, watched the wind carry it away. Then he spoke slow [illegible].

"Don't care for Montreal. I'm not going ashore." He moved uneasily. "Shall we walk a while?"

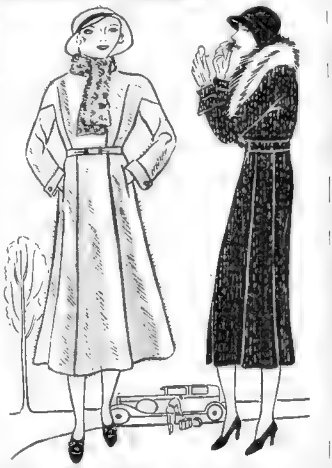
Informal Travel Coats

Directed by AMOS PARRISH

NEW YORK, Aug. 21. It doesn't take a [illegible] to know that fall's traveling right along toward you.

You can see it any day on any [illegible] in the brand new fall costumes that are appearing.



Speaking of traveling along—[illegible] what lots of folks do in the fall. Honeymooning couples & girls going back to college, families taking late vacations among the mountain scenery.

For Informal Wear

Furred or Plain

You can have your fall travel [illegible] trimmed with fur or not, as you please. Both are in fashion.

Raccoon, badger, lynx, wolf or fox harmonize [illegible] with the tweeds and brushed wools. Lapin [illegible] and kid goat are fine if you want flatter furs.

Watch for the dropped shoulder line on these coats. It's a fine idea because it makes a coat easier to slip on over a suit. Raglan sleeves have the same practicality too.

We've had two good types sketched. The [illegible] has [illegible] It has the new dropped shoulder, a comfortable face and a belt that leaves the hands free to tuck in the pockets [illegible] scarf collar is of caracul.

And the other has the fashionable shawl collar of fluffy fur. It's belted with a slight blousing at the waistline and the cuffs are the very much in [illegible] gauntlet type.

You'll see many of them and others too on fashion right women. Hurrying to catch a train, bound for the office or just walking [illegible] along.

Pointers on Etiquette
By MRS. BEECKMAN

Second Marriage

DEAR MRS. BEECKMAN:

1. I am to be married the latter part of the month to a boy from the East. I'm known by my former marriage name there. Will you please advise me as to the correct wording of an announcement [illegible] should be [illegible] Nancy [illegible] Lawrence Graham.

2. My mother [illegible] a reception in our [illegible] there and so many of our friends are strangers to [illegible] What would be the correct greeting in this case?

3. When receiving wedding gifts is it correct to write a note of thanks or send printed cards?

Thanking you very much, Mrs. Beeckman. READER.

1. The latter is correct. The former, their daughter Nancy, is correct only when for the first marriage.

2. "How do you do" or "How do you do, Mrs. Graham," as you would acknowledge any other kind of introduction.

3. It is terrible form to send printed acknowledgments of wedding gifts or any other kind of gifts. Write a note [illegible] expressing your [illegible] and then thanking for [illegible].

Cutting Layer Cake

DEAR MRS. BEECKMAN:

1. If, when out for supper, you're asked to cut a cake which is a round layer cake, how should [illegible] cut it, like a pie or across the cake?

2. I should also like to know whether it is correct when eating layer cake to separate the layers and eat them one at a time, or whether one should eat the whole piece [illegible] keep the layers together? ALBERTA.

1. Usually it is easier to cut and to serve when it is cut like a pie. But if you prefer, the other way is just as proper.

2. Layer cake should always be eaten with a fork and you cut the piece to be eaten in the most convenient way. And it usually [illegible] so convenient to keep the layers together.

(Mrs. Beeckman will be glad to answer questions on etiquette by readers.)

Reserve Policy of Cheap Money Called Failure

Plan Has Not Succeeded as Trade Stimulant Authority Says

By M. S. Rukeyser

[illegible]

M. S. Rukeyser

Cheap money will not in itself revive business nor has it to the present time. On residential construction, for example, it has had no effect. Its results have been confined principally to the money markets. There have been other periods in the past in 1885, 1893-1894, and 1908 when low money rates did not promote business recovery. Business will revive only as the relationship between retail prices, wholesale prices and wages are established on a basis such as to stimulate the demand for goods. When this does take place, commercial loans and interest rates both will [illegible] ... up re- [illegible]

"The cheap money policies of the Reserve Banks," he insisted, "may be positively harmful in having induced banks to expand their security losses and investments, leaving no slack to finance the business expansion when it gets under way. Either the Reserve Banks will then have to pour more money in the market if their reserves will permit this or banks will have to force liquidation of security loans and dispose of bond holdings."

* * *

[illegible] the New [illegible]

There is a limit to the ability of the Reserve Banks to insure any permanency of the present low money rates in the financial centers. The limit is to be found in the amount of 'free gold' held by the Reserve Banks, i. e., the gold over and above legal requirements, which now amounts to but 900 million dollars. The potential expansive power of the Reserve Banks should be computed on the basis of their 'free gold' and not on the basis of the reserve ratios currently published which are [illegible]less and find no recognition in the Reserve Act.

For example the reserve rate has risen over the past year while the amount of 'free gold' has declined. How much further the reserve banks will be willing to see the volume of 'free gold' [illegible] by gold exports and [illegible] cheap money policy is not [illegible]. Exports of gold are [illegible] a function of the cheap money policy. By a reversal of this policy they could be checked and this the Reserve Banks will be compelled to do sometime through a continued reduction in their 'free gold' reserves. A 'free gold' reserve of 900 million dollars is not large in view of the foreign short-term funds in the New York money market. This means that the Reserve Banks will sooner or later have to reverse their present policies with inevitably higher rates of interest. Just as interest rates are artificially low now they will be artificially high then with the accompaniment of a rigid curtailment in our capital exports to Europe.

"What is desired, from the point of view of the money market, is a stabilization of interest rates which, since the war have fluctuated within a wide range and as a verification of this one has only to recall the low rates of 1924, 1927 and 1930, and the high rates of 1928 and 1929."

Canadian Hydro Sets New Record

Tobaccos Have Been Doing Well

Tobacco shares, notably those identified with the cigarette industry, have been doing well. This group has many friends, judging by the comments heard of over [illegible] there have been no attempts at demonstrations in the shares and they have been [illegible] a normal market for some time. Any definite improvement in the general market would probably find the tobacco shares among those in the lead for they have good prospects for materially increased sales and earnings in the current year.

Still Advises Market Caution

Conservative observers continue to advise caution. They point out that with the fluctuations now occurring only the most nimble traders can hope to realize a profit. For that reason they are advising their clients to remain on the sidelines. Those inclined to purchase stocks are being urged to wait for a good technical reaction and then take leading stocks on a scale in small lots. Many fear [illegible] sharp rallies to reduce [illegible]

Radio Makers Work Overtime

Probably one of the most important factors in Radio Corp.'s unification with the electricals is that all manufacturing is being done by the former at the Camden plant. In the past with manufacturing spread among various manufacturing plants [illegible] unsatisfactory results were obtained. It is common knowledge that in past years Radio Corp. has found itself with some unsalable inventory. That has been eliminated by doing all the manufacturing under one roof. The engineering staff of the electricals has been taken over and is working [illegible] at Camden, rounding out the [illegible] radio manufacturing plant in the world.

Columbia-Radio Merger Is Off

Columbia Graphophone is not going to merge with Radio Corp., says correspondence from London. London has stuck to that idea all through the negotiations, which have been going on nearly two years. The difficulty of merging is obvious. The foreign shareholders [illegible] English would not want an American stock for their shares. Every time Thomas Lamont goes to Europe or David Sarnoff of Radio Corp. takes a trip to London the merger is said to be closer, but nothing has developed so far other than the admission [illegible] that it has been discussed in the past and may be again.

New Idea Used by Some Bears

There is a class of bear operators who is selling stocks that issue rights on the theory that the public is in no mood to subscribe these days. In many instances in the past year these bears have made substantial profits. They still are operating on the theory when the situation offers.

C. The Eastman Kodak Co., which through a subsidiary will take over the gelatine plants and business of the American Glue Co., already manufactures gelatine, one of the most important raw materials in photographic film paper and plates, in Rochester and in Germany. Purchase of the American Glue plants will provide a substantial additional supply.

The Eastman Gelatine Corp. will take over the Glue Company gelatine plants and business almost immediately upon ratification of the sale by the American Glue stockholders. Albert Goodhue, manager of the Glue Company's gelatine department, will become vice-president and general manager of the Eastman Gelatine Corp. William G. Stuber, president of the Eastman Kodak Co., is president of the gelatine subsidiary.

An important advantage to Eastman Kodak in the acquisition of these Peabody plants, is that they are right in the heart of the tannery industry, leather "trim" being the principal ingredient of gelatine.

Monthly Totals of Passenger Automobiles and Trucks Exported From the United States

By JOHN W. LAIRD

(Irving Fisher Service)

New Haven, Aug. 21.—Suggested as the nucleus for a rejuvenated Free Trade Party—the American motor-car manufacturers. Here are the totals of passenger cars and trucks exported from the United States during June for the past three years: 1928, 47,171; 1929, 5[illegible],976; 1930, 15,437. For the first six months of those years: 1928, 2[illegible],338; 1929, 324,341; 1930, 161,958.

How the automobile makers grievance shall be apportioned is a question. World trade depression deserves some of the blame; so does the tariff for bringing down reprisals on their heads, while a part of the abrupt decline in exports is undoubtedly chargeable to the fact that some of their own number have established branch [illegible] abroad in an attempt to escape import duties.

It is to the domestic manufacturers credit that, once the tariff was passed, they refused to cry over spilt milk and decided to buckle down and do their level best to develop that inviting foreign field which is so much further away from saturation than this country.

But they may have been pardoned if they dispatched discreet scouts to the Rhine, the Rhone, the Po and the Danube, with a view to seeking out factory sites with or without reference to the local standard of living.

Airplanes Carry Fruit and Flowers

Washington, Aug. 21—Airplane delivery of fruits and flowers, inaugurated by the Royal Netherlands Air Lines, is meeting with increased success, according to the company's report for the month of June, the Department of Commerce is informed by Commercial Attache Jesse F. Van Wickel at the Hague.

A total of [illegible]000 kilograms of strawberries were carried to London and other cities. On some days as many as 1000 kilograms of cut flowers were transported to Paris. Passenger traffic rose on all lines, generally in outward, but also in inward direction. Passenger traffic to London increased 100 passengers as compared with the same month last year. There is a regular increase in mail traffic.

Bank of England's Reserve Increases

London, Aug. 21 (AP)—The weekly statement of the Bank of England shows the following changes in pounds: Total reserve increased 6,848,000; circulation decreased, 5,588,000, bullion increased, 1,260,000; other securities increased 1,940,000; public deposits increased, 8,789,000, other deposits decreased, 5,013,000; note reserve increased 6,830,000; government securities decreased 4,975,000.

International Salt Initial Is Ordered

International Salt Co. declared initial dividend of 75 cents on the new common, payable Oct. 1 to stock of record Sept. 15. Three months ago a dividend of $2 on the old common was declared against $1.50 previously. In June the company split the stock three-for-one and offered an additional new share at $33 for each three shares of new stock held.

Nash Resume

Nash Motors Co. will resume production at Kenosha around Sept. 1 with 300 to 800 men, to be added to [illegible] until full production is attained.

CASH REGISTER IS ACTIVE

Dayton, O., Aug. 21.—Vice President Barringer, of National Cash Register Co., on return from Europe, predicted its foreign sales for last four months of 1930 would equal first six months.

He said plans for large-scale production of the new omnidenominator parcel post mail meter, which will weigh and stamp any parcel whose mailing charges range between one-half cent and $9.99, have been completed and production will start in near future.

Mr. Barringer expressed satisfaction with the business outlook in Europe, France and Germany, where the Company does the bulk of its European business, are in good condition, particularly France.

"Germany is recovering from the world-wide depression and France seems to be entirely over it," he said. "People are spending and making money and experiencing normal times in France. Recovery in Germany is slow but steady. Our business the past four months was larger than the six months preceding, and we look for further improvement. We have made additions to our German plant and 430 workers have been added."

Mr. Barringer believed the bottom of the business depression in the United States has been reached and that "we are slowly but surely on the upward trend."

Atlas Stores Get Larger Net Sales

New York, Aug. 21 (AP)—Atlas Stores Corp., reports net sales of $10,124,592 for the first half, compared with $7,546,014 for the like period last year. H. M. Stein, president, said the increase amounted to 34 per cent, whereas the number of stores had been increased only 3 per cent.

The Kendall Co.

Bauer & Black Division of The Kendall Co. has been awarded contract for six months' supply of ligatures and sutures for United States government hospital at Manila, Philippines.

CURB MARKET LEADERS HAVE HEAVY TONE

Efforts to extend the advance at the opening were checked by the bear element who resumed their selling operations with their offerings well taken on a scale-down. Trading was dull and toward the [illegible] slightly easier tendency was in evidence.

Utility shares were irregular and subject to narrow fluctuations. Electric Bond and Share opened firm, but profit taking, influenced by the recent gains, depressed the stock below the previous close.

American Gas and Electric also was under pressure but was supported about a point below yesterday's final. United [illegible] New[illegible] ted Light & Power A, Brazilian Traction were firm. Consolidated Gas of Baltimore was in demand.

Petroleum [illegible] Gulf Oil of Pennsylvania was a soft spot [illegible] were on thin sales [illegible] held around 27½. Standard Oil of Indiana was firm.

Among the specialties, Tec[illegible] and Mead Johnson were well bought. Ford of England was steady. Durant Motors and Tranlux fluctuated narrowly [illegible] slightly lower price [illegible]

[illegible] United Founders and Insull Utilities and Pennroad were steady.

NOTES TURNING TO BONDS

In a special study just issued members of the New York [illegible] Boston Stock Exchanges note the sentiment is beginning to take a more favorable attitude on the attractiveness of bonds for investment purposes. They cite that investors are now more anxious to place their funds in the most stable mediums. Indications of this, they point out, is given by the fact that deposits in Mutual Savings banks have increased $2[illegible] during the first six months of 1930 to the largest aggregate on record, well above $9,000,000,000.

Further, during the first six months of 1930, new financing through bonds and notes of domestic corporations was larger by more than $678,000,000, or 33 per cent, than in the first six months of 1929. They believe that bond yields have neither fully reflected the declines in money rates nor the increase in purchasing power of the dollar over the past year. [illegible] state:

"Contrary to theories many times expounded during the past bull market, an investment in bonds provides a means for capitalizing on the increasing purchasing power of the dollar which has increased from 59.8 in 1920 to 120.3 at present, using 'Fisher's Index of Purchasing Power.'"

They emphasize that further reason for anticipation of a strong bond market is that the cycle of speculation and business activity always preceded in a movement [illegible]ward recovery by an increase in popularity and, therefore, in price of bonds. This increase in the past has been first reflected in high grade bonds, later followed by those of second grade and finally by common stocks.

During the past year yields of all active bonds have increased 17 per cent. They conclude that the present would seem an excellent time to invest funds in bond issues of the highest caliber.

Sears Changes Its Prices on Tires

Chicago, Aug. 21.—Sears, Roebuck & Co. has rescinded increases in tire prices made in its fall and winter general catalogue and will continue prices quoted in its summer sale catalogue after the sale period ends August 31, said Manager Westrich of Sears tire department. On a weighted average basis fall and winter tire prices quoted in the general catalogue are about 2 percent. above summer sale prices. Customers ordering tires by mail from general catalogue after August 31 will get refunds of any differences between fall and winter and summer sale prices and Sears retail stores will continue present prices unchanged.

Russia Plans for Exports of Wheat

London, Aug. 21.—Russia will export between 15,000,000 and 20,000,000 bushels of wheat beginning the first week in September, said a wheat expert who has completed a month's farm survey in Russia.

Majority of the wheat will be consigned to Liverpool. Expert said Russia needs all the wheat she can produce, but will be forced to sell part of her crop due to large purchases of farm machinery in United States and Germany.

EARLY GAINS CONVERTED INTO LOSSES IN WALL ST.

New York, Aug. 21—Early gains were converted into losses in Wall St. trading today as the market entered the final period. Leaders sold off 2 to 10 points.

Stock trading degenerated into a contest for control of the price movement between opposing groups of professional traders, with the bearishly inclined making the better score during the afternoon.

TRADING IS QUIET

Most of the orders originated with floor traders, and neither selling or buying appeared in any appreciable volume from what Wall Street calls the "best people," meaning large investors and important banking interests. Trading was again stagnant.

Bears succeeded in puncturing a few soft spots in price fabric, particularly in the rails and specialties. Most of the pivotal shares fluctuated within a range of a point or less from last night's closing levels, although there were a few breaks of several points.

The safety razor stocks again proved vulnerable, both Gillette and Autostrop losing more than 7.

Rails generally declined 1 to 6. Southern Railway reaching the lowest prcie in six years; Illinois Central the lowest in five and Baltimore and Ohio the lowest in four.

Shares soon declining 2 to 4 included Vanadium, Westinghouse Electric, Eastman, Auburn, American Tobacco B, National Biscuit, Air Reduction and American Smelting.

Losses of a point or so embraced most of the important stocks by early afternoon.

SURVEY OF BUSINESS

What was characterized in many quarters as bear propaganda appeared in the form of various unconfirmable rumors, one having to do with the financial condition of an important company, in which prominent bankers have recently placed several millions after a thorough investigation which they say convinces them that the concern is in a sound and promising condition.

Publication of the results of a poll of the country's bankers, showing two-thirds looking for good business by October, was used as a bull argument in sending stocks temporarily higher during the morning.

A private survey of business prospects made for the officers of one of the world's largest banks is said in banking circles to have indicated that signs of improvement are already apparent, and that business will return to normal early next year. A private survey conducted by nation-wide utility system has also resulted in similar conclusions.

The figures for electric power consumption for the second week of August were a little disappointing. Although the decline from the previous week was negligible, seasonal trends would indicate an increase.

In the rail July earnings reports, Nickel Plate made a distinctly unfavorable showing, owing to the slackness in the motor industry. Chesapeake & Ohio, however, showed only a moderate decline from last year.

OIL PRICE CUTS

President Farish of Humble Oil said no general crude price reductions were in prospect, in connection with an announcement of a minor reduction in the Texas crude purchasing schedule. This was somewhat reassuring, after widespread predictions to the contrary in speculative circles.

The amusement shares were active features. Warner Bros. was a soft spot, selling around its minimum levels. Heavy buying orders in Radio Keith brought a moderate upturn there, one transaction being for 14,000 shares, and Loews gained a couple of points.

Call money renewed at 2 per cent for the first time since Aug. 11, and was available in the outside market at 1½ per cent. Easy money is expected until the Labor Day currency demands of about $75,000,000 make themselves felt.

TRUST BUILDS POWER HOUSE

Contract has been awarded to S. C. Sperry Co. Inc., of Cambridge, to build a power house on State st., Cambridge, Mass., for the Cambridge Industrial Trust Co., according to Brown's Letters, Inc., Construction Reports. Engineer is Walter A. Hall of Boston.

Bids will be received on August 27 for the contract to build an addition and make alterations to the Malden Hospital, Malden, according to Brown's Letters, Inc., Construction Reports, which has a set of plans and specifications on file at its office. Architects are Kendall Taylor & Co. of Boston.

Wheat Is Unsettled in Chicago Market

Chicago, Aug. 21—Wheat today closed unsettled, ⅜-1c a bushel lower than yesterday's finish. Corn closed nervous at ½-¾c net gain, oats ⅝-1¼c advanced and provisions varying from 7c setback to a rise of 5c.

Cotton Is Lower in New York Market

New York, Aug. 21—Cotton showed rather nervous and irregular fluctuations again today. In the last hour the new December sold around 11.15 and March to 11.43 or 7 to 9 points net lower.

Steel Bookings in Week Over Averages

New York, Aug. 21—Fabricated structural steel bookings of 40,000 tons and new projects rquiring 37,000, though less in each case than previous week, exceeded the weekly average for the year, says the Iron Ag.

OWENS-ILLINOIS

Ans.—The Owens-Illinois Glass Co., in addition to being a manufacturer of patented bottlemaking machinery, company is now the world's largest bottle manufacturer. Has enlarged its capacity by several acquisitions, including that of the Illinois Glass Co., in April, 1929. Latter subsidiary has developed a substantial business in manufacture of bottles, corks, bottling and packing machinery and similar products.

Company and Libbey-Owens Sheet Glass Co., are joint proprietors of important natural gas properties near Charleston. Funded debt consists of $5,000,000 10-year 5 per cent debentures, issued as part payment for the Illinois Glass Co. Preferred stock is also outstanding to the amount of $8,000,000. Outstanding common shares of $25 par value numbered 868,587, after allowing for 5 per cent. stock dividend paid January 1, 1930.

Net income for the year ended December 31, 1929, amounted to $4,451,826, equivalent to $4.57 a share of common. This compares with $4,011,310 for the predecessor company (Owens Bottle Co.) in the previous year. Earnings in 1927 and 1928 showed declines, due, at least partially, to competitive price-cutting. The absorption of Illinois Glass Co. has tended to correct this situation, and within a reasonable time substantial operating economies should result.

During the current year, earnings are not expected to compare favorably with 1929, however, because of decline in aggregate business being experienced, says Standard Statistics.

Dollar volume of sales during the first quarter was officially reported to be 18 per cent lower than a year earlier, and it is probable that earnings were similarly reduced. Outlook for the balance of the year can only be termed fair. Common dividend rate recently reduced from $4 to $3. Financial position as of December 31, 1929, was very satisfactory, cash totaling $3,220,706, against current liabilities of $2,184,293.

Owens-Illinois Glass six months' net was equal to $1.78 a share on 915,531 common shares against $2.43 on 827,111 shares in 1929 in the same period.

G. G. T., Boston—Is it advisable for me to sell now my 50 shares of United Shoe? I enclose a list of my holdings.

Ans.—Our idea is that you should retain this stock, which has sound investment merit.

HAS A LOSS

J. M., Boston—I own some Grisby-Grunow at 21. What is your opinion of it?

Ans.—Grisby-Grunow pays no dividend. It is a speculation. At recent levels the stock was about seven points under the price you paid. No one knows where it will sell. Due to distinct slump in the radio business, net profits for year ended May 31, 1930, equalled 87 cents a share, compared with $2.98 for 1929. On present stock, issued in four-for-one split dividends of 50 cents a share were paid October 1, 1929, and January 2, 1930. Dividend due, April 1, however, was omitted. In a recent statement an official said the company was in excellent financial condition, and ratio of current assets to current liabilities was two and one-half to one, with no funded debt.

GIVES NO DETAILS

F. C., Wayland—I am a reader of your paper and shall appreciate information on Warner Brothers.

Ans.—Warner Brothers Pictures is one of the largest producers and exhibitors of motion pictures. The common stock, however, is a speculation. At quarterly meeting held August 7, directors took no action on payment of common dividend due September 2, next. Previous rate was $1 a share quarterly from Decembeer, 1929, following initial dividend of 75 cents a share September, 1929. Net for fiscal year ended August, 1929, was $6.33 a share, compared with $4.98 for 1928; six months to March 1, 1930 (latest available report), $3.67 a share contrasted with $1.03 for similar period of 1929. What is back of your inquiry?

NO ADVICE

R. R., Cliftondale—Shall I take a profit in Electric Power & Light common, or wait for higher levels?

Ans.—We are grateful for your confidence, but we do not know any more about future prices than the next man. So far this year Electric Power & Light has advanced from a low of 49¼ to a high of 75⅜. Earlier in the year, however, it sold at 103½. The current $1 dividend has been paid since May, 1928. For 12 months ended March 31, 1930, net profits equalled $2.87 a share, compared with $2.54 for similar period of 1929. The system is in position to benefit from growth of both electrical and natural gas industries. What effect this may have on future prices is conjectural.

NOT ENOUGH

B. S., Newton—I am a working man and have saved $200, which I want to invest. What shall I buy?

Ans.—Give no heed to the purchase of securities until you have saved at least $3000. Furthermore, $200 is an insufficient amount for emergencies. Don't become discouraged. Try to build up your fund through systematic saving. Write to us later.

N. T. E., Peabody—I am thinking of buying some Owens-Illinois Glass Co. stock, the purchase of which is advised to me by a Peabody friend. Please give me a description of the issue.

BANKRUPTCY LAW ASSAILED

Chicago, Aug. 20—Administration of the bankruptcy laws has "passed into irresponsible and dishonest hands, at least in New York," Solicitor-General Thomas D. Thatcher told the American Bar Association here today.

If the evils attendant upon administration of the statute in New York are found to prevail generally, it will prove the very theory of the law is wrong and it must be thoroughly overhauled, the solicitor-general declared.

As administered in New York, he continued, the law is "perfectly designed to promote inefficiency in the administration of bankrupt estates and to encourage dishonest and reckless disregard of business integrity on the part of large numbers of people."

He added:

"Inefficiency in administration necessarily results from the theory upon which the act proceeds: that the creditors, because of their interest in salvaging the estate for the partial payment of their debts, will take active control and responsibility for its administration; whereas it appears that during the four years from 1925 to 1928, inclusive, creditors did not even take the trouble to file claims exceeding $1,000,000,000 and representing over 30 per cent of all scheduled liabilities."

Fisk Rubber Gives Report for Half

Fisk Rubber Co. reports for the six months ended June 30, 1930, loss of $1,854,902 after all charges including depreciation and interest. After write-down of crude materials and reserve for commitments amounting to $796,920, a net loss of $2,651,822 is shown for the half-year. This compares with net loss for the first half of 1929 of $236,713.

UNUSUAL PROGRAMS ON AIR TONIGHT

An unusual number of features are on the radio tonight, foremost among them, a speech by Chief Justice of the Supreme Court Charles Evans Hughes. Chief Justice Hughes will address listeners of WBZA at 10 o'clock. He speaks from Chicago at the annual meeting of the American Bar Association.

Over the CBS wires including WNAC a lively program has been arranged for 11:30. Originating in the Casino in Central Park a group of Columbia's artists will appear before the microphone. Leo Reisman and his orchestra will provide music, and Harriet Lee, Marie Gerard, Paul Sisters, the Melody Musketeers, the Crockett Mountaineers, the "Around the Samovar" group and a novelty orchestra will offer their bits. Ted Husing will be master of ceremonies. The program is called "Wall Street" night, in honor of Wall Street Brokers.

Senatorial, gubernatorial and other candidates will meet and discuss the issues of the campaign at an old-fashioned town meeting to be held in the Municipal building at Hull, and WNAC will broadcast the program, which starts at 10 o'clock. Speakers on the program will include Hon. William M. Butler, Hon. Marcus Coolidge, Hon. Eben S. Draper and a host of others.

From 8:15 to 9 o'clock WNAC carries a monster festival and band concert given by 400 musicians under the auspices of Boston Musicians' Protective Association. William A. Barrington-Sargent will act as conductor.

To Broadcast

CHIEF JUSTICE Charles Evans Hughes, who speaks from Chicago tonight over WBZ at 10 o'clock.

Concerning Radio

Edited by BILL WHIPPLE

Do you remember, away back in those halcyon days, you boys who have whizzed by the 40-year milestone, when one of those so-called one-lunged automobiles made its majestic way down the main street of your village, and the young cut-ups of the neighborhood yelled out to the nervous gentleman at the throttle and steering bar, such unkindly remarks as "Ice wagon!" or "Get a whip?" Of course you remember!

They were something new, automobiles were. They did not seem practical to the unimaginative masses then; just a sort of fad which would soon die a natural death and good old Dobbin, the faithful family horse, would still continue to get dad and the rest of the family wherever they wanted to go plenty fast enough.

"We are now in that "ice wagon, old Dobbin" stage of the television era; it is really still in an experimental stage. Probably crude and quite unsatisfactory. Radio is perfected to a point where there is little more that can be done to make it better, but television is lumbering along in a "one lung" fashion, struggling against skepticism, "you got to show me" elements, and many other obstacles which anything new and novel must overcome before the public awakens to the realization that it has something practical and worth while.

Just how much progress science has made in perfecting television recently we do not know; we mean whether it is really good enough yet to convince skeptics that it is more than an experiment. But the fact remains that over in London television is about to be introduced on a commercial basis through the broadcasting of legitimate stage plays from one of the theaters there, marking what is believed to be the first display of visual radio in the world.

That, we believe, is most interesting. And, if it is true, what a wonderful thing it will be for the theatrical fraternity here. Radio is now limited to some 600 stations in this country, but if television comes into its own we don't know how many thousands of theaters may be added, where television shows will be presented, the presentation of which entertainment will demand a great many actors and actresses.

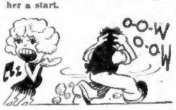
A young lady from North Cohasset—perhaps that is only a vacation address—writes in to know how she may get a trial before the "Mike." She sings; at least she makes that assertion. Perhaps she is really an excellent vocalist and needs only a little encouragement and a bit of advice to get her a start.



We are strong on advice and encouragement, Doris, and if you will be patient we'll write you a personal letter on the matter at the first opportunity. What will be in that letter will be just between us two; we won't let the rest of the subscribers in on it, will we? It's a serious business getting an audition.

Speaking of crashing into radio, there are many ways it has been and can be accomplished. Mostly it is a matter of luck. Here is how one person, Minnie Blauman, one of the cast of the Nit Wits, got her start. Minnie was a pianist behind the counter in a Brooklyn 5 & 10. Successive steps brought her to Irving Berlin as music arranger. Two years later she went to Columbia System as vocal arranger and in time got her chance with the Nit Wits. It is reported she is the only woman in radio who coaches male voices.

Things to look forward to tonight. The Maxwell House program with Willard Robison in charge. He has discovered a modernistic spiritual, never before broadcast. It is called "Way Down in the Deep, Low South," and Elizabeth Sheridan will sing it. Robison offers "Song From a Cotton Field," and the ensemble will present old southern melodies and bright new tunes . . . The Arco Party over WEEI at 9 o'clock. David Crockett, one of the pioneers who helped to conquer the American wilderness will be the reincarnated guest of honor on this program . . . Over WEEI at 4:15 p. m., Oliver C. Elliot, superintendent of the Boston Industrial Home will give a resume of the work accomplished by the home, and the place it fills in the city . . . William Walter Husband, assistant secretary of labor will address the National Radio Forum on the subject of immigration. This will be heard over a CBS network at 10:30.

RADIO Personalities

BILL MAHONEY, whose piano is heard every day on the Tower Health Exercises, holds a unique record. He plays the piano six mornings a week, 50 weeks a year, and has been doing it for five and a half years. He has never repeated a number, which means he has offered more than 1600 numbers. . . . DARL BETHMANN, baritone on the "Sunday at Seth Parker" program, is so conscientious that he is growing a mustache, because the character he impersonates has one. . . . NBC has had more than 100 addresses on legislation during the 71st congressional session. . . . Rivals say NBC made a serious mistake in signing AMOS & ANDY up for five years, because they believe that within a year the boys will be forgotten. Wouldn't that be somethin' . . . STANLEY MAXTED, Columbia tenor, when in the war won honors as a gunner. He is a member of the Canadian National Guard. . . . WILL OSBORNE has stopped megaphoning, but RUDY continues undaunted . . . HARRY SWAN, CBS actor, says he can imitate more birds than anyone else in radio. . . . Baltimore girls show a decided weaknes for ROBERT SIMONS, NBC tenor. Fan mail from that town is plentiful for him.

Twice-Wed Tommy Armour Now Single

New York, Aug. 21 (US)—After years of litigation, during which time he married a second time, Tommy Armour, golf professional, has been divorced by wife No. 1, it was learned today. Supreme Court Justice Schmuck handed down the decree July 30.

Not only is Armour divorced, but his second marriage to Estelle Andrews, which transpired after he had himself "divorced" wife No. 1, Consuelo Armour, in the Mexican courts, is legally declared never to have transpired.

The decree declared wife No. 1 is the only living wife of the golf professional and awarded her the custody of Tommy, Jr., seven, and $250 a month, $100 of which is to support the boy.

G. O. P. CLUB TO GIVE PROGRAM

A dancing interpretation of "The Tercentenary Hymn to America," will feature the musical program at the third and last Tercentenary event of the Women's Republican Club of Massachusetts to be held this afternoon at 2:30 o'clock on the estate of Mr. and Mrs. Gaspar G. Bacon in Jamaica Plain.

Guests of honor are to be members of the Governor's Tercentenary Commission. The speakers will be Herbert Parker and Gaspar G. Bacon, president of the Senate.

"The Tercentenary Hymn to America," was written by Miss Clara Endicott Sears, with the music by Mrs. M. H. Gulesian. Miss L. Gertrude Howes, a member of the club, has written the interpretative arrangement for the hymn.

It is to be sung by Camille Girouard, baritone and symbolic figures will give the aesthetic interpretation. Mrs. Frederic E. Judd, chairman of the club tercentenary committee, is in charge of the program.

Another Sheriff in Maine Accused

Bar Harbor, Me., Aug. 21 — Charges that Sheriff Ward W. Westcott of Hancock county was "guilty of the same violation of office" which led to the removal last week of Sheriff Chester W. Getchell of Kennebec county, was made in a signed statement issued last night by the Rev. Frederick W. Smith of Waterville, head of the Maine Christian Civic League.

Getchell pleaded guilty in federal court in Portland last Friday to permitting outside liberty to a prisoner in his custody. The court action was followed by executive request for his resignation.

Probate Business Jumps

A total of 368 legal actions are returnable in Middlesex Probate Court today, and will require three sessions of court. The same date in 1929 found only 138 actions on the list.

hour. Good heavens, half past four! "I've got to get the 5:45 train. But we have time for tea. Come on, let's have tea!"

They had it in one of the famous Chinese restaurants. A stony-faced Chinese brought cakes and ginger, but Cathie found that she couldn't eat.

"Too much ice cream at lunch," she said smiling. But that wasn't the real season. It was remembering his train, and the parting. It wouldn't be for long . . . it couldn't be . . .

"The tea's just scalding!" she told him, laughing, and wiping her eyes, and she thought, "What a silly I am! Forgeting everything! I must be falling in love . . . oh, if he'll only love me back . . . if he only will . . ."

"Oh! Is it?"

"Now where's home?" he asked. "I've just time to take you."

Home. Now it all came back.

Everything she had been forgetting. Everything he had blotted out with his thrilling presence. "Oh, you can't take me home," she cried quickly. "It's too far. I'll just get a car and—"

Next to Oldest

But he wouldn't listen. He bundled her into a taxi in spite of her half-hearted objections, and shy excuses. At a busy intersection he made the driver wait while he jumped out and bought the biggest, fanciest box of chocolates Cathie had ever seen in her life.

"I never could eat all that! It's a life supply!"

"Haven't you got a family? Mother, father, sisters, brothers——"

"No dad?"

"Big brother?"

"No, he's younger. I'm next to the oldest."

"I see," he said soberly. The taxi was stopping in front of a shabby, high-shouldered cottage squeezed in between two slatternly looking flats. They were on a side street, almost an alley, in the Beacon Hill district not far from Boston Common. Yes, he saw . . . The old cottage, with its weedy lawn and sagging, sun-blistered steps. And she, "next to the oldest."

"Good-bye and God bless you!" he smiled. He wished he could do something for the child, but Lord, what can you do in a case like that?

Wonderful Day

He backed away, a little frightened by what he saw in her wide, startled eyes. And she looked like such a sensible kid . . . "I'm afraid so," he said briskly. "I don't get down to the city very often."

For a long minute she stood motionless, staring at him with eyes that were at first incredulous, then just bewildered and hurt.

Then she smiled, and reached for the package he was holding out to her. The Japanese toys. Her purse. The huge box of candy.

"Goodbye," she said gallantly, extending a slim, ungloved hand. "It's been a wonderful day. I'll never forget it—ever!"

"Oh, yes, you will!" He was standing, bare-headed still, by the side of the chugging taxi. "Next time I see you you'll be married to a millionaire. You're the kind. Some smart young man will find you!"

She was still smiling that gorgeous, gallant smile that illumined her whole face, but her eyes had grown misty and she shook her head.

"Goodbye!" He leaned out to wave, as he was was being driven away. She didn't see him. She was running blindly, wildly, to the back door.

Why Dirty Politics?

Candidates Make No Votes by Slinging Mud

In a fine spirit of altruism, the Knights of Columbus protest against the popular practice of maliciously defaming the characters and reputations of our citizens who offer themselves to the public service.

And one of the candidates for the Democratic nomination for Governor promptly signalizes the event by directing a particularly savage attack upon Mr. John F. Fitzgerald.

In passing, it can be said that those familiar with our civic history realize that Mr. Fitzgerald's second administration as Mayor of Boston, to which allusion was made, was without doubt the ablest and most progressive which the city has known up to the present. "Bigger, Better and Busier Boston" became a slogan of international renown and the commercial life of the city fairly hummed. It could be further said, if it were necessary, that when the defamations of the day became chronic, Mr. Fitzgerald permitted a committee of his substantial and unrelenting political opponents to examine the city government from top to bottom and they reported they found his management alert, capable and honest.

The action of the Knights of Columbus should have the wholesome effect of calling all candidates to their senses and of diminishing the flow of billingsgate and claptrap which has no respectable place in American politics.

But there is hardly a need of being overly disturbed, because American campaigns have never been quite free from it and probably never will. Washington was attacked as being a real estate manipulator in government affairs under his charge, the senior Adams was berated as a petty tyrant of autocratic design. Jefferson was branded as a godless person and the malicious attempts to demean Jackson would fill volumes. Yet their memories are enshrined in the hearts of their countrymen.

The American people are discerning. They recognize their right to know the records of those who seek their votes and the honor of serving them in high places, and they can readily distinguish between merited attacks and cheap abuse.

Professors, The League

The Case of Hudson of Harvard

Mr. Kenneth W. Clark of Universal News Service reports from Geneva that Professor Hudson of Harvard is now and has been for eleven years on the payroll of the League of Nations.

Professor Hudson is perfectly within his rights in accepting gratuities, emoluments, honorariums or, in unprofessional American terms, plain cash, from any paymaster to which his conscience may lead him.

But when he and other college professors issue these long screeds urging the United States to cancel the enormous debts owed to it by foreign countries, when they attempt to cajole or browbeat Congress with their propaganda designed to push the United States into the League of Nations and the League Court or when they throw their influence behind these naval pacts which jeopardize the future security of the country, they should be perfectly frank with the American people.

The people are entitled to know the connections and affiliations of these propagandists in order that they may determine to their own satisfaction whether they are merely well-intentioned pacifists or whether their purposes are colored to the coin which they have in their pockets.

America's teaching profession finally awoke to the fact that some of its ultra-distinguished members who preached the sanctity of private ownership of public utilities were actually on the secret payroll of the Power Trust. This profession can scarcely afford to suffer a further depreciation of its reputation by disclosures that another wing of it which is hired by American colleges to teach American history to American boys and girls, is also collecting cash from an institution like the League of Nations, which is financed by foreign governments and which the American people have decided is inimical to the independence of their own country.

Cardinal's Wise Words

In the temperate conduct of our lives lies true value as individuals and as a nation, William Cardinal O'Connell tells the Knights of Columbus. In extremes lies danger.

As always, Cardinal O'Connell speaks to the issue, clarifying it in the minds of his listeners and his readers. Those not privileged to hear, should read.

> "History proves that goodness and virtues and righteousness cannot be forced on a people by statutes or by machine guns."

That is true not only of prohibition but of every phase of American life. Violence made lawful to enforce fanatical law breeds discontent and danger.

> "We would do well not to forget that luxury and wealth may lead to the corruption even of the best, and destroy the very foundation of this nation, founded by sturdy men in poverty and privation."

Between extremes lies temperance and in temperance happiness and the true worth of our earthly existence are to be found.

Sage Brush

In Park Square

The population center of the United States has moved approximately 25 miles west in the last ten years, the census reveals. Although the exact spot has not yet been determined, it is close to the town of Hymera, in Sullivan County, Indiana. Hymera is twenty miles from the western border of the State. In 1920, the center was near Whitehall, in Owen County, and in 1910 it was in Bloomington.

"Westward the course of empire takes its way"—as somebody said once, more truly perhaps than he realized at the time.

America is filling up. Population marches steadily if slowly toward the Pacific. You wonder if some day it may not all be concentrated in California, and Oregon, and Washington. Certainly nobody could ask more from nature than those coastal States afford.

A hundred years hence Boston may be the frontier. Effete Westerners, jammed into congested cities, may then venture into the Eastern wilderness in search of the great open spaces where men are men and where thar's gold in them thar hills instead of gold diggers.

NEW YORK DAY BY DAY -:- By O. O. McIntyre

NEW YORK, Aug. 21—Elderly ladies in New York refuse stubbornly to grow old. In other years there was a conviction among women past 60 that nothing mattered. Their lives seemed to congeal and they were seldom seen in public.

They were shunted into inactivity through a general belief they had had their day. This frustration was encouraged by the majority who thought venerable women looked utterly foolish if not sitting complacently in corners with hands folded in their laps.

Today at the theater and opera women past 60 and 70 and even 80 are seen in evening dress enjoying themselves. They learned all of a sudden that stagnation was largely psychological instead of physiological.

They attend bridge parties in the afternoon, dinners in bright cafes at night, and every supper club has a sprinkling of silver-haired matrons who would have gasped at such didoes 20 years ago. These do not include foolish old ladies squired about by gigolos.

• • •

Instead, the escorts are sons or grandsons who take a deal of pride in the companionship. Save in tenement districts of the lower East Side, one seldom finds elderly women conforming to that decorum, moulded by tradition—black bonnets, black gloves and peau de soire gowns.

They dress as smartly as the women in their 40's. One dressmaking atelier caters especially to women past middle age, and while there is a becoming austerity in the general effect there is nothing to suggest chimney corner and slippers.

For many years old people were mentally gangrened by being made to feel inferior. Last years became a crucifixion—the martyrdom of being tolerated. This was never so with New York's old boys, who are always inclined to caper like colts, the rascals.

A New York dentist is able to refresh himself by dropping to sleep for two or three minute periods. He excuses himself from patients to visit his workroom, has his catnap and—this came to me with practically no thinking up—returns to the grind.

• • •

I am not a socialist, yet it strikes me the clearest political thinker in New York is Norman Thomas, recent socialist candidate for Mayor. He has patience, culture, vision. There are few men in whose hands the metropolis would be so safe. And there is no one into whose hands it is less likely to trust itself.

Tinting finger nails to match the frock goes a step further. Fashionables appear with jewels and nails colored to match. Green nails to match an emerald necklace were spied in a cafe last evening. The wearer was in white satin and if it wasn't Julia Hoyt I need glasses.

• • •

Most men like to recall early hardships—cracking ice in water jugs for morning ablutions and sleeping on corn husk mattresses. I've white-fibbed so much about my own, I wonder, too, if others are largely exaggerations.

• • •

"Well, one farm got relief, anyway."

• • •

There is excitement in the street below. A lady, well dressed, is shaking her fist at someone in a motor car at the curb. A stenographer in a window across the way saves me the trouble of rushing down. On a big piece of cardboard "Husband caught cheating."

Once-Overs

YOU MAY have prospered to a greater degree than any of your friends.

When you entertain you feel embarrassed because you realize that these friends cannot dress or do other things on the same scale as your newer friends.

You have about made up your mind not to invite them to your affairs because you think it may cause them to go beyond their means to keep up appearances.

Those who are wise will decline your invitation if they feel that conditions put them out of the class you will invite—the newly-acquired, so-called friends.

Some will not want to embarrass you; others feel too much pride of themselves to appear at a formal gathering in informal or shabby attire.

You might have social affairs where you especially entertain the friends who composed the circle in which you until recently moved.

ON "THE SCIENCE OF LIFE"

H. G. Wells

THEN THERE is the molding of the connective tissues to form tendons. Each tendon in the body runs just in the direction of the greatest tension to which it is exposed, and its size is proportional to the amount of that tension. This beautiful adaptation again is brought about directly by the tension.

If the Achilles tendon in the heel of an animal is cut, it is gradually repaired. New fibres grow in between the cut ends. At first they are quite irregular in arrangement, but gradually they grow in number and all become parallel.

The Achilles tendon's attachment is to the calf muscles, and if this is removed the new formed fibres never grow parallel and remain sparse. It is thus the pull of the muscle normally both guides the fibres into place and stimulates them to grow until the bundle is big enough to resist the highest tension the muscle can exert.

In the same way, experimentally setting up a pull in connective tissue (as by exerting gentle tension on a silk thread healed into a wound) will bring about the artificial production of tendons—tendons that do not run from muscle to bone, but simply follow the pull.

And recently it has been shown that even in cultures of connective tissue cells outside the body, if a tension is set up locally, the fibre-forming cells not only grow parallel with its pull, but multiply more vigorously here than elsewhere.

Here then the chain of proof is complete. The original chemical differentiation brings into being that general kind of tissue we call connective. Out of its pervading meshwork the mechanical forces of the living body themselves elicit all the multifarious details of particular tendons and sinews.

So the size of blood vessels and the thickness of their walls depend chiefly upon the volume of blood poured through them, as is strikingly shown by those cases where a big artery is gradually blocked, and the blood, finding its way round through small byways, forces them to enlarge and assume the structure and duties of major vessels.

The digestive system alters with the diet. John Hunter, the great anatomist, made a sea gull produce a passable imitation of a gizzard by feeding it for many months on grain only. Few organs escape some degree of modeling by their own activity.

Development, we see, is a step-by-step process. In the bit of living matter that is to develop, each difference between one region and another is the parent of further differences.

The first regional differences come from without—the egg has its main axis imposed upon it, and then its two-sidedness.

Capital Silhouettes

WITH THE Republicans now organized to answer the Democratic propaganda the pot calls the kettle black every day.

• • •

THE DEMOCRATS, we are told, may carry the next House of Representatives, and that reminds us:

The wets may vote the way they talk in an interview.

Tom Heflin may poll the silent vote.

THE TRUTH is that prohibition enforcement is getting so slack now that it is feared hardly anybody will qualify in the coast guard this season as a sharpshooter.

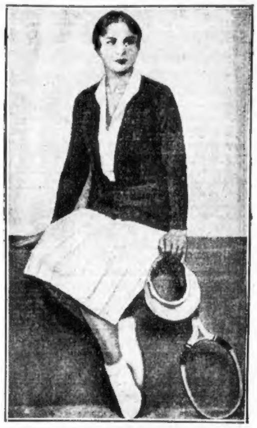
Our Helen—

More Interesting by Far Than Any Lady of Troy



THE UNCONQUERABLE HELEN IN REPOSE

That famous lady, Helen of Troy, was fortunate in having the Elizabethan poet Marlowe to describe her, whereas our modern Helen, Mrs. Helen Wills Moody, of California, has only sports reporters and tennis experts to sing her praises.

You can't beat that for description, nevertheless, we allege that our modern Helen of California would make the old-time Helen so well advertised by Homer look unimportant if she ever appeared at Wimbledon.

Take off her Trojan or Greek costume, put a sunshade on her eyes, give her a racket and short skirts and what would she look like? Nothing at all. So much for her.

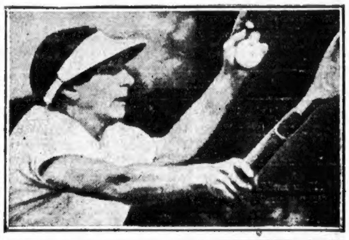
If you are interested in knowing HOW THINGS ARE DONE, you will be even more interested in the smaller picture of Mrs. Wills Moody in action. Look at that earnest face, and above all look at the marvelous FOREARM and WRIST.



IN ACTION. LOOK AT THAT ARM AND WRIST

Do you wonder that she walks on the court carrying three or four rackets, to have a fresh one when she smashes one in play?

At this moment you know that she has just delivered her second serve, having made a "fault" with the first ball.

This is proved by the fact that she has only one ball in her left hand. Mrs. Moody always starts play with three balls in the left hand, for reasons which she understands and others do not.

You can only serve two balls at most, why carry three? It takes a world's tennis champion to answer that.

Mrs. Helen Wills Moody has won the Wimbledon championship, which means the championship of the tennis world, for the fourth time. When the British print her picture they simply put under it, "Unconquerable."

BOSTON'S ORIGINAL KNOWLEDGE TEST
